I. COURSE PREREQUISITES

Social Work Practice with Individuals (SOWK 543) is built upon a liberal arts undergraduate foundation. First-year students are expected to have, and be able to draw upon, basic knowledge and theory found in various social science disciplines including psychology, sociology, anthropology, and biology.

II. CATALOGUE DESCRIPTION

Theory and principles underlying generic social work practice with primary emphasis on working with individuals.

III. COURSE DESCRIPTION

Given the complex and diverse urban/rural environments in which social workers practice and the diverse situations in which they intervene, a generalist social work education offers the best foundation for effective social work practice. SOWK 543 is designed to educate and prepare generalist social workers with the knowledge and skills needed to assess the person-in-environment configuration and decide which system(s)—individuals, families, groups, communities and/or organizations—are most appropriate for the focus of work and service provision.

Social Work Practice with Individuals (SOWK 543) introduces generalist social work principles emphasizing a systems perspective, the continuum of service delivery levels and modalities, a commitment to underserved and vulnerable populations. In addition, knowledge of the profession’s ethical standards, and the ethical dilemmas that occur as social work values and professional ethics are operationalized in practice.

The course takes a sequenced approach to teaching basic practice skills; students are exposed to the theory and necessary skills required to work with individuals in the engagement, assessment, intervention, termination and evaluation phases of treatment. Although the focus is on individual treatment, the person-in-environment and systems approach to practice are emphasized highlighting the necessity for multilevel intervention. The importance of research to social work practice is introduced as it applies to the understanding of client problems and the choice and effectiveness of interventions.

IV. COURSE OBJECTIVES

The Social Work Practice with Individuals course (SOWK 543) will:

Objective #	Objectives
1	Teach the ethical standards and practices of professional social work. Provide an environment which encourages students to explore how their particular gender, age, religion, ethnicity, social class, and sexual orientation influence their ethics and how these variables may affect their ethical decision making in practice.
2	Provide opportunities for students to increase awareness of individual needs that diverse populations (gender, race, sexual orientation, social class, religion, and vulnerable and oppressed groups) present and which require appropriately matched effective services.
3	Demonstrate the importance of the role of empirical research and evidence-based practice as they apply to social work practice. The principles of evidence-based practice will be presented and students will have opportunity to apply the principles to clinical case studies.
4	Present foundation materials on the complex nature and scope of generalist social work practice, including the varied tasks and roles that social workers undertake as effective change agents. Emphasis will be placed on the importance of a systems paradigm and person-in-environment framework both of which show the interaction between the biological, psychological, social, and cultural systems.
5	Provide the theoretical foundation needed for students to develop core practice skills underlying social work service to individuals. Demonstrate major concepts to support the treatment process (engagement, assessment, planning and contracting, implementation and termination/evaluation phases). Provide students with commonly applied models of practice and experiential activities to practice clinical skills.

V. COURSE FORMAT / INSTRUCTIONAL METHODS

The format of the course will consist of didactic instruction and experiential exercises. Case vignettes, videos, and role plays will also be used to facilitate the students’ learning. These exercises may include the use of videotapes, role-play, or structured small group exercises. Material from the field will be used to illustrate class content and to provide integration between class and field. Confidentiality of material shared in class will be maintained. As class discussion is an integral part of the learning process, students are expected to come to class ready to discuss required reading and its application to theory and practice.

VII. COURSE ASSIGNMENTS, DUE DATES & GRADING

Assignment	Due Date	% of Final Grade
Assignment 1: Engagement Phase: Examination of Self and Other	Week 5	20%
Assignment 2: Midterm: Psychosocial Assessment Parts I and II	Week 9	30%
Assignment 3: Final: Psychosocial Assessment Parts 1,2,3,4	Finals Week	40%

Each of the major assignments is described below.

Assignment 1, Due June 17, Week 5 at 11:59 PM PST (20 POINTS)

This assignment will focus on examining similarities and differences in engagement strategies with clients. Each student will first conduct a self-examination of how he or she would prefer to be engaged in a professional social work relationship as a client, determining what personal and cultural values, beliefs and preferences are held. This will then be contrasted by selecting a hypothetical “client” who will differ in diversity profile from the student (e.g., racial, ethnic, gender, sexual orientation or other characteristics) A similar analysis of the engagement phase with this hypothetical client will be conducted, focusing on cultural values, beliefs, and behaviors that are described in the literature as related to the chosen diversity profile. Concepts must be supported by the professional literature. A detailed description of the assignment will be distributed in class.

This assignment relates to student learning outcomes 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, and 10.

Assignment 2, Due July 15, Week 9 at 11:59 PM PST (30 POINTS)

This assignment involves developing the first two sections of a psychosocial assessment with a client from field practice. A detailed psychosocial assessment framework will be presented in class. In the first two sections, the student will present significant information (the facts) about the client and then formulate a professional explanation of the client and his/her circumstances based upon the student’s theoretical understanding. A detailed description of the assignment will be distributed in class.

This assignment relates to student learning outcomes 5, 6, 7, 8, and 11.

Assignment 3: Due August 26, Final Class at 11:59 PM (PST) (40 POINTS)

This assignment involves four parts. The first part is a revision of the first two parts of the psychosocial assessment from assignment 2, incorporating instructor feedback. The second part involves a literature search and identifying three evidence-based practice interventions potentially appropriate for the case, as well as a critical explanation of selecting an intervention from among the three. Part 3 is a detailed description and explanation of how the intervention will be applied to the case. Part 4 is a critical review of the case, including potential barriers and limitations and expected effect of treatment for the client. A detailed description of the assignment will be distributed in class.

This assignment relates to student learning outcome 5, 6, 7, 9, 11, 12, and 13.

Class Participation (10 POINTS)

It is expected that you will attend class regularly, participate substantively in class discussions and activities, and submit your work promptly. Failure to meet these expectations will result in a reduction in your grade.

Your involvement in this class is vital to your growth as a social work practitioner. You will be asked to discuss the assigned material and participate in role-playing and other exercises in class. Having the "right" answers is not nearly as important as being willing to explore your own ideas and to engage with new information and ideas of others in the class. Your presence in class as well as being prepared to participate in critical discussion by having read and considered the assigned materials, is essential. Participation in class forum discussions on the course wall also constitute meaningful class participation.

Class grades are based on the following:

Class Grades		Final Grade
3.85 – 4.00	A	92.5 – 100	A

A Note About Units 9 through 13

It is recognized that there is some overlap among the next 5 sessions. For example, crisis intervention often includes affect regulation techniques; cognitive components may be found in some aspects of behaviorally oriented interventions, etc. Social Workers typically draw upon many different models of practice in order to design an intervention strategy that recognizes each client's individuality. The topics of the following weeks are separated artificially for teaching and learning purposes but they should not be thought of as discretely different and unrelated.

University Policies and Guidelines

IX. ATTENDANCE POLICY

Students are expected to attend every class and to remain in class for the duration of the unit. Failure to attend class or arriving late may impact your ability to achieve course objectives which could affect your course grade. Students are expected to notify the instructor by email (maryharr@usc.edu) of any anticipated absence or reason for tardiness.

University of Southern California policy permits students to be excused from class for the observance of religious holy days. This policy also covers scheduled final examinations which conflict with students' observance of a holy day. Students must make arrangements in advance to complete class work or assignments that will be missed due to holy days observance.

Please refer to Scampus and to the USC School of Social Work Student Handbook for additional information on attendance policies.

X. STATEMENT ON ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

USC seeks to maintain an optimal learning environment. General principles of academic honesty include the concept of respect for the intellectual property of others, the expectation that individual work will be submitted unless otherwise allowed by an instructor, and the obligations both to protect one's own academic work from misuse by others as well as to avoid using another's work as one's own. All students are expected to understand and abide by these principles. SCampus, the Student Guidebook, contains the Student Conduct Code in Section 11.00, while the recommended sanctions are located in Appendix A: <http://www.usc.edu/dept/publications/SCAMPUS/gov/>. Students will be referred to the Office of Student Judicial Affairs and Community Standards for further review, should there be any suspicion of academic dishonesty. The Review process can be found at: <http://www.usc.edu/student-affairs/SJACS/>.

Additionally, it should be noted that violations of academic integrity are not only violations of USC principles and policies, but also violations of the values of the social work profession.

XI. STATEMENT FOR STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

Any student requesting academic accommodations based on a disability is required to register with Disability Services and Programs (DSP) each semester. A letter of verification for approved accommodations can be obtained from DSP. Please be sure the letter is delivered to the instructor as early in the semester as possible. DSP is open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. VAC students should contact Ed Roth, Director of the DSP office, at 213-740-0776 or ability@usc.edu.

Students must NOT assume that the instructor will agree to the grade of IN. Removal of the grade of IN must be instituted by the student and agreed to be the instructor and reported on the official “Incomplete Completion Form.”

XVI. CODE OF ETHICS OF THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF SOCIAL WORKERS

Approved by the 1996 NASW Delegate Assembly and revised by the 2008 NASW Delegate Assembly [http://www.socialworkers.org/pubs/Code/code.asp]

Preamble

The primary mission of the social work profession is to enhance human wellbeing and help meet the basic human needs of all people, with particular attention to the needs and empowerment of people who are vulnerable, oppressed, and living in poverty. A historic and defining feature of social work is the profession’s focus on individual wellbeing in a social context and the wellbeing of society. Fundamental to social work is attention to the environmental forces that create, contribute to, and address problems in living.

Social workers promote social justice and social change with and on behalf of clients. “Clients” is used inclusively to refer to individuals, families, groups, organizations, and communities. Social workers are sensitive to cultural and ethnic diversity and strive to end discrimination, oppression, poverty, and other forms of social injustice. These activities may be in the form of direct practice, community organizing, supervision, consultation administration, advocacy, social and political action, policy development and implementation, education, and research and evaluation. Social workers seek to enhance the capacity of people to address their own needs. Social workers also seek to promote the responsiveness of organizations, communities, and other social institutions to individuals' needs and social problems.

The mission of the social work profession is rooted in a set of core values. These core values, embraced by social workers throughout the profession's history, are the foundation of social work's unique purpose and perspective:

- Service
- Social justice
- Dignity and worth of the person
- Importance of human relationships
- Integrity
- Competence

This constellation of core values reflects what is unique to the social work profession. Core values, and the principles that flow from them, must be balanced within the context and complexity of the human experience.
