CTWR 533B – REWRITING THE FEATURE SCREENPLAY
SPRING 2015 (4 Units)

Instructor: Siavash Farahani
Email: karma@karmafilm.com
Section: 19286D
Time: THURS 7–10 pm
Location: SCI 209
Office hours: By appointment

Course Objective:

To learn troubleshooting an existing draft of a feature length screenplay and rewriting the 2nd draft for maximum dramatic impact and audience participation.

Class Description:

533B is a continuation of 533A where the student will revise the draft of the script completed last semester. The goal is here is to produce a polished and professional-grade feature screenplay by the end of the semester, with emphasis on significant improvement with regards to characters, structure, dialogue, visuals and theme in order to achieve maximum dramatic impact and audience resonance.

As such we will follow an aggressive and intense writing schedule. Students should anticipate 10-12 pages of writing PER WEEK. The final screenplay must be no less than 105 and no more than 115 pages when formatted according to industry standards (Final Draft, WB, COLE&HAAG format or equivalent).

Much like 533A this is a workshop class where you will be expected to contribute. As such, your attendance and participation will be key to the process and your final grade.

Our class time will be divided between lecture, discussion and in-class table readings of your pages, with emphasis on the latter. Students will be broken up into reading groups, with alternating reading shifts. Depending on progress, we may also have a guest speaker and in class screenings towards the end of the semester.

The ultimate objective here is to turn your existing draft into a well crafted and compelling screenplay that you can hopefully use as a calling card in the industry. Who knows. Do a good enough job and you might even get it sold!
Required Reading/Viewing:

The Tools of Screenwriting by Howard/Mabley
Save the Cat by Blake Snyder

We will be referring to these texts regularly so please read both ASAP. Additionally we will also read and discuss at least one screenplay from a recent major motion picture (to be determined). You will also be assigned to watch movies and scenes outside of class and pending our progress.

Suggested Reading:

Save the Cat Goes To the Movies by Blake Snyder
Save the Cat Strikes Back by Blake Snyder
The Hero with a Thousand Faces by Joseph Campbell
Stealing Fire From the Gods by James Bonnet
The Writer’s Journey by Christopher Vogler
Story by Robert McKee
How To Build A Great Screenplay by David Howard

Grading Criteria/Evaluation:

As we all know there are many great and varied storytelling traditions in the world. This class, however, focuses exclusively on the Western tradition, in particular as it is practiced in Hollywood studio system today.

This includes a three act narrative with all its structural components as discussed during the semester including - but not limited to – Prologue, Status Quo, Catalyst, Main Tension, Midpoint, Climax, Resolution, Epilogue etc. All with an eye towards maximum dramatic impact and audience participation.

Equal emphasis will be placed on creating compelling/multidimensional characters with clear goals, needs, obstacles, conflicts and transformations. This includes believable and well rounded protagonists and antagonist who display a range of human of emotions and behaviors.

Your work will be evaluated based on your attention to character development and arc, plot structure, themes, visuals, cinematic appeal and, last but not least, proper format and grammar.

You will also be graded you on your ability to identify weak spots in your scripts and make the necessary improvements based on our discussions and class feedback. Of course, this will be balanced against your ability to tell a unique story in your own personal voice.
UNLESS OTHERWISE INSTRUCTED ALL WORK IS DUE IN PDF FORMAT BY NOON ON THE DAY OF CLASS AND CCD TO PROFESSOR AND CLASS.

Statement on Academic Conduct and Support Systems

Academic Conduct

Plagiarism – presenting someone else’s ideas as your own, either verbatim or recast in your own words – is a serious academic offense with serious consequences. Please familiarize yourself with the discussion of plagiarism in SCampus in Section 11, Behavior Violating University Standards https://scampus.usc.edu/1100-behavior-violating-university-standards-and-appropriate-sanctions. Other forms of academic dishonesty are equally unacceptable. See additional information in SCampus and university policies on scientific misconduct:
http://policy.usc.edu/scientific-misconduct.

Discrimination, sexual assault, and harassment are not tolerated by the university. You are encouraged to report any incidents to the Office of Equity and Diversity http://equity.usc.edu or to the Department of Public Safety http://capsnet.usc.edu/department/department-public-safety/online-forms/contact-us. This is important for the safety of the whole USC community. Another member of the university community – such as a friend, classmate, advisor, or faculty member – can help initiate the report, or can initiate the report on behalf of another person. The Center for Women and Men http://www.usc.edu/student-affairs/cwm/ provides 24/7 confidential support, and the sexual assault resource center webpage http://sarc.usc.edu describes reporting options and other resources.

Support Systems

A number of USC’s schools provide support for students who need help with scholarly writing. Check with your advisor or program staff to find out more. Students whose primary language is not English should check with the American Language Institute http://dornsife.usc.edu/ali, which sponsors courses and workshops specifically for international graduate students. The Office of Disability Services and Programs http://sait.usc.edu/academicsupport/centerprograms/dsp/home_index.html provides certification for students with disabilities and helps arrange the relevant accommodations. If an officially declared emergency makes travel to campus infeasible, USC Emergency Information http://emergency.usc.edu will provide safety and other updates, including ways in which instruction will be continued by means of blackboard, teleconferencing, and other technology.

Disruptive Student Behavior

Behavior that persistently or grossly interferes with classroom activities is considered disruptive behavior and may be subject to disciplinary action. Such behavior inhibits other students’ ability to learn and an instructor’s ability to teach. A student responsible for disruptive behavior may be required to leave class pending discussion and resolution of the problem and may be reported to the Office of Student Judicial Affairs for disciplinary action.
