Course Description
This course examines a body of dramatic literature that has had a profound and lasting effect on the English-speaking cultures of the modern world. We will ask what has made Shakespeare such an enduring influence in the cultures of the West and in the larger global community surrounding us. In investigating this question, this course will focus on Shakespeare’s language, his stagecraft, his literary "genius," and his legacy, exploring his plays through two major themes: villainy and marriage. In both units we will examine how Shakespeare introduces a theme in an early play and reworks it later in his career. We will then see how Shakespeare condenses both themes of villainy and marriage in Hamlet.

Learning Objectives
Cultivate a critical appreciation for one of the highest and most influential forms of human expression, namely the works of Shakespeare;

Develop an understanding of the contexts from which Shakespearean drama has emerged;

Engage with lasting ideas and values that have animated humanity throughout the centuries, with the goal of leading a more purposeful, more ethical, and intellectually richer life;

Learn to read and interpret actively and analytically, to think critically and creatively, and to write and speak persuasively;

Learn to evaluate ideas from multiple perspectives and to formulate informed opinions on complex issues of critical importance;

Reflect on what it means to be human – and to represent the experience of being human – through close study of the playwright alleged to have “invented the human.”

Required Readings
Richard III
Othello
Macbeth
Merchant of Venice
Twelfth Night
Winter’s Tale
Hamlet
The Tempest

I have ordered the Signet versions of the play into the bookstore (reasonably priced and easy to carry; Othello and Macbeth are Pelican editions). But any good edition(s) of Shakespeare will do, including the Riverside, Norton, Pelican, Penguin or Folger – beware, however, that if you purchase an edition of Shakespeare other than the official texts your line numbers will likely be different from the ones I announce in class.
Description and Assessment of Assignments
You will be graded on essays and exams, as well as the quizzes and class participation.

Essays:
1. A 3-4 page essay
   This essay will ask you to analyze one speech or scene through close reading.
2. A 5-6 page essay
   This essay will ask you to compare two plays through close reading.

Exams:
1. Midterm exam
   The midterm will take place in class on Feb 28th. It will include a section of short IDs, a passage identification and analysis section, and a short essay. I will offer a handout with precise directions the week before the exam.
2. Final exam
   The final exam is will be a take home exam. It will consist of passage identifications and analysis, as well as a short essay. I will hand out precise directions the final week of class.

Participation:
This includes careful reading, thoughtful responses, and attendance at both lecture and section. Attendance and class participation are an important part of the course. SEVEN OR MORE UNEXCUSED ABSENCES IN LECTURE/SECTION COULD RESULT IN A FAILURE FOR THE COURSE REGARDLESS OF THE STUDENT’S PERFORMANCE ON PAPERS AND EXAM.

Extra-credit Recitation:
I highly encourage all of you to do this extra-credit assignment, as it introduces your own voices and talents into lecture. This extra-credit assignment asks you to memorize 14 lines of Shakespeare. You might memorize a sonnet to recite in lecture; or you might memorize roughly 14 lines of a play (such as a soliloquy); or you might decide to work with other students to stage a scene or portion of a scene from a play, as long as you each deliver roughly 14 lines worth of text. I will assign the extra credit where you need it (it could serve as a perfect score on a quiz, if you are missing a quiz grade or didn’t perform well on one of them; or it could serve as an extra 3 points on a paper; or as an aid to your participation grade).

Joint Educational Project (JEP):
Our course will include a service-learning option for those of you interested in teaching our material to students in elementary, middle or high school in the neighborhood around USC. This will be a potentially rewarding and time-intensive opportunity to design lesson plans and visit classrooms, where you will teach Shakespeare (or related poetry/drama) to younger students. You will receive a bump of 1/3 of a grade for successful completion of the JEP requirements (based on a report generated by their office at the end of the semester). So, for example, a B grade for the course would become a B+.
Quizzes:
Pop quizzes will be given in lecture. These quizzes will ask you to identify quotations or questions about key points of a text. The questions should be easy to answer if you’ve done the reading. There are no make up quizzes and you cannot receive credit for the quiz if you are not in lecture that day. To allow for emergencies, illness, and other unforeseen absences, I will allow you to drop one quiz over the course of the semester. If you manage to complete all of the quizzes perfectly over the course of the semester, you will receive extra credit.

FAILURE TO COMPLETE THE PAPERS OR FAILURE TO COMPLETE THE MIDTERM AND FINAL WILL RESULT IN AN F FOR THE COURSE.

Grading Breakdown
All assignments are graded on a point scale from 0-100. Uncompleted assignments receive a zero. Late papers will be penalized by 3 points a day, starting immediately after the paper is due in lecture. There are no make up quizzes.

- Participation: 10%
- Quizzes: 15%
- 3-4 page essay: 15%
- 5-6 page essay: 20%
- Midterm exam: 20%
- Final exam: 20%

Assignment Submission Policy
All papers are due in lecture on the date listed on the syllabus. You are also required to submit a copy through Turnitin on Blackboard.

Computer Policy
In this class you are invited to take notes in your book and in a notebook. Please do not use an electronic device (computer, phone, iPad, etc.) to take notes, unless you have a documented disability that requires it (in which case, please provide me with this notification). If you need more information on why I have this policy, please feel free to ask me! I put this policy in place with your health, wellbeing, and education in mind. For more information, please see:

UNIVERSITY POLICIES

Academic Accommodations
Any student requesting academic accommodations based on a disability is required to register with Disability Services Programs (DSP) each semester. A letter of verification for approved accommodations can be obtained from DSP. Please be sure the letter is delivered to me as early in the semester as possible. DSP is located in STU 301 and is open 8:30am-5:00pm, Monday through Friday. The phone number for DSP is (213) 740-0776.

Statement on Academic Integrity
USC seeks to maintain an optimal learning environment. General principles of academic honesty include the concept of respect for the intellectual property of others, the expectation that individual work will be submitted unless otherwise allowed by an instructor, and the obligations both to protect one’s own academic work from misuse by others as well as to avoid using another’s work as one’s own. All students are expected to understand and abide by these principles. Before writing your papers, be sure and read and understand Trojan Integrity: Guide to Avoiding Plagiarism. Any plagiarism will be grounds for an F in the course. SCampus, the Student Guidebook, (www.usc.edu/scampus or http://scampus.usc.edu) contains the University Student Conduct Code (see University Governance, Section 11.00), while the recommended sanctions are located in Appendix A: http://www.usc.edu/dept/publications/SCAMPUS/gov/.

Students will be referred to the Office of Student Judicial Affairs and Community Standards for further review, should there be any suspicion of academic dishonesty. The review process can be found at: http://www.usc.edu/student-affairs/SJACS/.

Emergency Preparedness/Course Continuity in a Crisis
In case of a declared emergency if travel to campus is not feasible, USC executive leadership will announce an electronic way for instructors to teach students in their residence halls or homes using a combination of Blackboard, teleconferencing, and other technologies.

Statement on Student Behavior
Behavior that persistently or grossly interferes with classroom activities is considered disruptive behavior and may be subject to disciplinary action. Such behavior inhibits other students’ ability to learn and an instructor’s ability to teach. A student responsible for disruptive behavior may be required to leave class pending discussion and resolution of the problem and may be reported to the Office of Student Judicial Affairs for disciplinary action. These strictures may extend to behaviors outside the classroom that are related to the course.
