

CTCS 478
Digital Media and Learning
Tara McPherson
Tuesday 10:00A.M.-1:50 P.M.
SCA 203

Do you want to take charge of your own learning?
 Can you imagine going to class in a virtual world?
 Doing your homework on YouTube or Flickr?

The class engages recent research in digital media and learning and includes a lab component that allows USC students to help create the class structure. We will work in LA elementary schools on a variety of digital media projects, designing curriculum and assisting in classrooms. Open to undergraduate and graduate students.

