I. Course Description, Objectives and Requirements:

“Ethics and International Security” is a course is designed to help students, as future leaders, policy-makers and world citizens, explore the relationship between international security and ethics. The main questions we will address include whether ethical questions are relevant to international relations, and in light of the constraints of the international system, are ethically desirable results possible? The goal of IR 307 is to give students the intellectual tools to think through these big issues and help them to develop the ability to ask ethical questions about world politics. We will use case studies to explore the question of how we (should) judge or evaluate action and behavior in the international realm. To develop additional expertise in a particular policy area, students will draft a brief report utilizing IR 307 materials to illuminate an issue of pressing international concern.

By the end of this course, students will:

* Have a basic understanding of the relevant traditions of international ethical thought and the role of international justice and responsibility, and be able to relate this knowledge to the study of international relations.
* Develop practical knowledge of several pressing challenges to international security, such as nuclear proliferation, human rights, humanitarian intervention, economic sanctions, preemptive war, the environment and poverty, and assess strategies for managing these challenges.
* Be able to evaluate policy recommendations for the United States in ethical terms.

Students are expected to come to class having read the assigned readings and ready to participate in a robust discussion of the materials. Since exams are designed to test your knowledge of both lecture materials and texts, it will be next to impossible to succeed in IR 307 without regular class attendance. Along with attendance, engaged, meaningful class participation and the demonstration of focused, critical thinking skills are the keys to success in this class.

Grading:

15% Attendance and quality participation
20% Quizzes (4 out of 5, lowest grade dropped)
25% Midterm
15% Short paper (2000-2500 words, approx. 8-10 pages) on approved topic
25% Final

Readings (texts on order at the USC Bookstore and on Leavy reserve):

All other readings are available on USC’s Blackboard system (https://blackboard.usc.edu/).

Classroom policies:

In the classroom:
Please be sure to help the instructor maintain a collegial atmosphere necessary for learning by keeping comments civil and respectful. The lectures and discussions in this class will demand the full use of your undivided cognitive abilities; therefore, the use of laptops is discouraged and even frowned upon. Before you enter the classroom, please discontinue the use of and stow all portable electronic communication devices and be sure your device is in an off-position or silent (not vibrating) mode. Messaging, tweeting, texting, chatting, celebrity stalking, social networking, shopping, portfolio managing or using electronic devices in any manner that distracts your fellow classmates from classroom activities will not be tolerated, and WILL result in a lowered participation grade for each occurrence (for example, students seen texting will not receive credit for any class in which they choose to disrupt the class in this manner). Audio or video recording of class sessions is not allowed without explicit permission from the instructor. I will only consider excusing absences upon the presentation of appropriate medical or other documentation. With proper notification, I will consider giving 1% credit for successful participation in and completion of a service-learning program such as TIRP.

Notes on written work:
All written work should be neat, free of spelling and grammatical errors, double-spaced, typed in 12 point font, page numbered, and should utilize appropriate citation practices.
*It is strongly suggested that assignments accord with the citation practices and reference standardization found at www.chicagomanualofstyle.org/home.html, or a similar style guide. Author-date style is preferred. Students are advised to consult a helpful guide to research papers, such as The Craft of Research by Wayne C. Booth, et al. (University Of Chicago Press), or Stephen Van Evera’s Guide to Methods for Students of Political Science (Ithaca. NY: Cornell University Press).

*Work must be submitted by the relevant deadline, both as a hard copy to my box in VKC 330, and as a clearly labeled (your name, name of assignment) electronic attachment to uscIR307@gmail.com. Late work will be penalized one half grade for each day late (A to A-, etc.). Yes, including weekends.

Statement for Students with Disabilities
Any student requesting academic accommodations based on a disability is required to register with Disability Services and Programs (DSP) each semester. A letter of verification for approved accommodations can be obtained from DSP. Please be sure the letter is delivered to me as early in the semester as possible. DSP is located in STU 301 and is open 8:30 a.m.–5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. The phone number for DSP is (213) 740-0776. http://www.usc.edu/disability

Statement on Academic Integrity
USC seeks to maintain an optimal learning environment. General principles of academic honesty include the concept of respect for the intellectual property of others, the expectation that individual work will be submitted unless otherwise allowed by an instructor, and the obligations both to protect one’s own academic work from misuse by others as well as to avoid using another’s work as one’s own. All students are expected to understand and abide by these principles. Scampus, the Student Guidebook, contains the Student Conduct Code in Section 11.00, while the recommended sanctions are located in Appendix A: http://www.usc.edu/dept/publications/SCAMPUS/gov/. Students will be referred to the Office of Student Judicial Affairs and Community Standards for further review, should there be any suspicion of academic dishonesty. The Review process can be found at: http://www.usc.edu/student-affairs/SJACS/.
