

Students will learn about the state's most significant policy challenges, and begin the process of identifying both issue-based solutions as well as options for more underlying government, political and structural reform. In addition to the instructor, students have the opportunity to hear from and question many of California's most respected public and private sector policy experts, who will offer their insights as to possible solutions for these challenges.