I. COURSE PREREQUISITES

SOWK 534, SOWK 535, and SOWK 562

II. CATALOGUE DESCRIPTION

Development and evaluation of service programs for children and families incorporating social welfare policy, macro practice and research skills.

III. COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course is the capstone experience for the second year student in the Children and Families Concentration offering the student the opportunity to demonstrate a command of social welfare policy, practice and research skills by developing a client-centered grant proposal that responds to an unmet service need or community issue. The student will build on knowledge and skills acquired in the foundation year to cultivate specialized skills in program development, program evaluation, and grant writing pertinent to a wide variety of children and families service systems in richly diverse and complex urban environments.

The course recognizes the broad range of issues involving children and families, while at the same time allowing students flexibility in choosing specific areas of interest and service systems on which to focus their learning experience. Those students specializing in child welfare issues will incorporate their knowledge of the history and philosophy of child welfare practices, their ability to identify and measure outcomes in public child welfare programs into class discussions and course assignments. Those students specializing in social work in educational settings will incorporate their knowledge of the structure and policies of educational institutions, the strengths and limitations of the educational system, critical issues challenging the systems and the role of the social worker in the educational system into class discussions and course assignments. Students focusing on other child and family issues will incorporate social work knowledge and skills developed in foundational classes and specialized electives into class discussion and course assignments.

IV. COURSE OBJECTIVES

The Merging Policy, Planning and Research for Change in Families and Children’s Settings course (SOWK 603) will:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Objective #</th>
<th>Objectives</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>Explain the connection between the policy-making process and program development, implementation, and evaluation, in terms of its influence on family and child service delivery systems in diverse and complex urban settings.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>Emphasize the critical analysis and application of policy and empirical evidence (e.g., existing agency, community and/or public data, research findings) to the assessment of client/community needs and problem identification, and the development and evaluation of programs for families and children in diverse and complex urban settings.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>Foster the development of skills in program design to address unmet service needs of families and children, including critically examining the provisions of relevant policies, generating a theory- and evidence-based program approach that fits with the culture and priorities of clients and the mission and capacity of the agency, setting measureable goals and objectives, delineating program methods, planning a project time line, and developing a budget and funding plan.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>Foster the development of skills in program evaluation to assess effectiveness of programs designed to meet the needs of families and children, including conducting ethical research, translating program goals and objectives into research questions, selecting a suitable research design, recruiting a sample, identifying and/or designing measures, and developing a data analysis plan.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>Provide instruction in fund development and grant proposal writing to support service programs designed to address the unmet service needs of families and children in diverse and complex urban settings.</td>

</tbody>

V. COURSE FORMAT / INSTRUCTIONAL METHODS

Delivery of this course will be learner-centered and progressive; it will value student autonomy, build upon students’ experiences and promote discovery and group interaction. Class time will be divided between short, foundational lectures and workgroup activities designed to help students make steady progress on their respective proposals. Four to five students will be grouped together, based on similar areas of interest and/or service settings (e.g., schools, DCFS, homeless services). Workgroup members will have shared responsibility for the completion of weekly group tasks; however, each student retains individual responsibility for completing his/her own proposal. Since workgroup members will have overlapping interests, student proposals may be linked in subject matter, but should clearly reflect a unique programmatic approach to addressing the client problem and unmet service needs. Through task-centered, small group activities, students will gradually assume more independent responsibilities for learning, and the role of the instructor will shift toward that of consultant, facilitator, and resource person.

The online teaching and learning environment provided by the University’s Blackboard Academic Suite will support and facilitate student-to-student communication and interaction outside of class as well as access to instructor support.

Program Proposal and Evaluation Plan

Each student* will identify a problem in functioning and corresponding unmet service needs for clients in his/her field placement agency. He or she then will develop a grant proposal that: 1) Identifies the size, scope, and importance of the problem, the need for additional services, and the agency’s capacity to meet those needs; 2) Provides a theory- and research-based explanation of the problem; 3) Critically analyzes relevant policy(ies) that govern the provision of existing services to address the problem; 4) Details a new programmatic response to the problem based on its underlying causes (see #2 above) and the agency’s mission; and 5) Outlines an evaluation plan for assessing the impact of the intervention on specified client outcomes. The proposal will be completed in 4 stages across the course of the semester:

Assignment 1: Problem Statement

Students will prepare a paper identifying the agency, the clients served, the problem in client functioning, and corresponding unmet service needs. This paper will include data on the size, scope, and importance of the problem, theory and empirical evidence to help explain why the problem exists, and an analysis of existing policy guiding service provision in this area. Specific guidelines for this assignment will be distributed in class.

Due: Unit 4

This assignment relates to student learning outcomes 2, 4, 5.

Assignment 2: Program Description

To respond to the problem in client functioning identified in Assignment #1, students will propose a multi-service program to respond to the problem by addressing clients’ unmet service needs. The program plan will include goals and objectives, program methods, time line, organizational chart, and budget. Specific guidelines will be distributed in class for this assignment.

Due: Unit 8

This assignment relates to student learning outcomes 2, 4, 7, 8

Assignment 3: Evaluation Design

Once the program description is complete, students will develop the evaluation component of the proposal to determine the impact of the program on client outcomes. This paper will include the research questions/hypotheses, design, sampling method and informed consent procedures, measures, and data collection methodology. Specific guidelines will be distributed in class for this assignment.

Due: Unit 12

This assignment relates to student learning outcomes 4, 9

Assignment 4: Analysis Plan & Proposal Completion

Students will finish the evaluation plan by describing their data analysis procedures and identifying the strengths and limitations of their evaluation plan. They also will complete the overall proposal by writing an executive summary and a conclusion. Specific guidelines will be distributed in class for this assignment.

Due: Finals Week

This assignment relates to student learning outcomes 2, 4, 5, 7, 8, 9.
Joint Projects: Students may develop individual proposals or work with a partner on a joint proposal. Joint assignments must be accompanied by a one-page statement detailing each partner’s contribution to the assignment. Students working on joint projects will earn the same content grade; however, their individual contributions to the work will count separately toward each assignment grade. At the end of the semester, each partner also will evaluate the other’s overall performance, which will be part of their respective class participation grades.

Please Note: All written assignments will be graded not only on content, but also on professional presentation, adherence to the guidelines, grammar, spelling, mechanics, and APA format.

Class Presentation

Each student will prepare a PowerPoint presentation of his or her program proposal and evaluation plan to the class. The presentation should highlight the problem, the program, the underlying theory(ies) and evidence-base that support the proposed plan of action, the specifics of the evaluation plan to determine program effectiveness, and a critical assessment of the plan’s strengths and weaknesses. The grade will be a combination of peer review and instructor assessment. Specific guidelines will be distributed in class for this assignment.

Due: Unit 13 and Unit 14

This assignment relates to student learning outcomes 2, 4, 5, 7, 8, 9

Class Participation (10% of Course Grade)

Student participation is worth 10% of the grade. Five percent will be determined based upon performance in the workgroup (e.g., completing weekly workgroup tasks, offering constructive feedback, resource sharing). The other 5% will be based on a combination of adequate preparation for class, active engagement in all class activities, timely submission of assignments, and personal conduct which fosters a respectful, collegial, and supportive learning environment.

Class grades will be based on the following:

Within the School of Social Work, grades are determined in each class based on the following standards which have been established by the faculty of the School:

Grades of A or A- are reserved for student work which not only demonstrates very good mastery of content but which also shows that the student has undertaken a complex task, has applied critical thinking skills to the assignment, and/or has demonstrated creativity in her or his approach to the assignment. The difference between these two grades would be determined by the degree to which these skills have demonstrated by the student.

A grade of B+ is given to work which is judged to be very good. This grade denotes that a student has demonstrated a more-than-competent understanding of the material being tested in the assignment.
A grade of B is given to student work which meets the basic requirements of the assignment. It denotes that the student has done adequate work on the assignment and meets basic course expectations.

A grade of B- denotes that a student’s performance was less than adequate on an assignment, reflecting only moderate grasp of content and/or expectations.

A grade of C reflects a minimal grasp of the assignments, poor organization of ideas and/or several significant areas requiring improvement.

Grades between C- and F denote a failure to meet minimum standards, reflecting serious deficiencies in all aspects of a student’s performance on the assignment.*

STUDY DAYS / NO CLASSES

FINAL EXAMINATIONS
IX. Attendance Policy

Students are expected to attend every class and to remain in class for the duration of the unit. Failure to attend class or arriving late may impact your ability to achieve course objectives which could affect your course grade. Students are expected to notify the instructor by email (xxx@usc.edu) of any anticipated absence or reason for tardiness.

University of Southern California policy permits students to be excused from class for the observance of religious holy days. This policy also covers scheduled final examinations which conflict with students' observance of a holy day. Students must make arrangements in advance to complete class work which will be missed, or to reschedule an examination, due to holy days observance.

Please refer to Scampus and to the USC School of Social Work Student Handbook for additional information on attendance policies.

X. Academic Conduct

Plagiarism – presenting someone else’s ideas as your own, either verbatim or recast in your own words – is a serious academic offense with serious consequences. Please familiarize yourself with the discussion of plagiarism in SCampus in Section 11, Behavior Violating University Standards https://scampus.usc.edu/1100-behavior-violating-university-standards-and-appropriate-sanctions/. Other forms of academic dishonesty are equally unacceptable. See additional information in SCampus and university policies on scientific misconduct, http://policy.usc.edu/scientific-misconduct/.

Discrimination, sexual assault, and harassment are not tolerated by the university. You are encouraged to report any incidents to the Office of Equity and Diversity http://equity.usc.edu/ or to the Department of Public Safety http://capsnet.usc.edu/department/department-public-safety/online-forms/contact-us. This is important for the safety whole USC community. Another member of the university community – such as a friend, classmate, advisor, or faculty member – can help initiate the report, or can initiate the report on behalf of another person. The Center for Women and Men http://www.usc.edu/student-affairs/cwm/ provides 24/7 confidential support, and the sexual assault resource center webpage sarc@usc.edu describes reporting options and other resources.

XI. Support Systems

A number of USC’s schools provide support for students who need help with scholarly writing. Check with your advisor or program staff to find out more. Students whose primary language is not English should check with the American Language Institute http://dornsife.usc.edu/all, which sponsors courses and workshops specifically for international graduate students. The Office of Disability Services and Programs http://sait.usc.edu/academicsupport/centerprograms/dsp/home_index.html provides certification for students with disabilities and helps arrange the relevant accommodations. If an officially declared emergency makes travel to campus infeasible, USC Emergency Information http://emergency.usc.edu/ will provide safety and other updates, including ways in which instruction will be continued by means of blackboard, teleconferencing, and other technology.
XII. Statement about Incompletes

The Grade of Incomplete (IN) can be assigned only if there is work not completed because of a documented illness or some other emergency occurring after the 12th week of the semester. Students must NOT assume that the instructor will agree to the grade of IN. Removal of the grade of IN must be instituted by the student and agreed to be the instructor and reported on the official “Incomplete Completion Form.”

XIII. Policy on Late or Make-Up Work

Papers are due on the day and time specified. Extensions will be granted only for extenuating circumstances. If the paper is late without permission, the grade will be affected.

XIV. Policy on Changes to the Syllabus and/or Course Requirements

It may be necessary to make some adjustments in the syllabus during the semester in order to respond to unforeseen or extenuating circumstances. Adjustments that are made will be communicated to students both verbally and in writing.

XV. Code of Ethics of the National Association of Social Workers (Optional)

Approved by the 1996 NASW Delegate Assembly and revised by the 2008 NASW Delegate Assembly [http://www.socialworkers.org/pubs/Code/code.asp]

Preamble

The primary mission of the social work profession is to enhance human wellbeing and help meet the basic human needs of all people, with particular attention to the needs and empowerment of people who are vulnerable, oppressed, and living in poverty. A historic and defining feature of social work is the profession’s focus on individual wellbeing in a social context and the wellbeing of society. Fundamental to social work is attention to the environmental forces that create, contribute to, and address problems in living.

Social workers promote social justice and social change with and on behalf of clients. “Clients” is used inclusively to refer to individuals, families, groups, organizations, and communities. Social workers are sensitive to cultural and ethnic diversity and strive to end discrimination, oppression, poverty, and other forms of social injustice. These activities may be in the form of direct practice, community organizing, supervision, consultation administration, advocacy, social and political action, policy development and implementation, education, and research and evaluation. Social workers seek to enhance the capacity of people to address their own needs. Social workers also seek to promote the responsiveness of organizations, communities, and other social institutions to individuals’ needs and social problems.

The mission of the social work profession is rooted in a set of core values. These core values, embraced by social workers throughout the profession’s history, are the foundation of social work’s unique purpose and perspective:

- Service
- Social justice
- Dignity and worth of the person
- Importance of human relationships
- Integrity
- Competence
This constellation of core values reflects what is unique to the social work profession. Core values, and the principles that flow from them, must be balanced within the context and complexity of the human experience.
