COURSE DESCRIPTION

In this class, we will address strategic and operational issues that companies face in multiple industries, and the responses of chief financial officers who are responsible for the accounting and financial planning and decision making. We will view the business as a whole – from the eyes of the Chief Financial Officer within the business.

The class contains eight industry segments, each focusing on key issues that an industry faces and how specific CFOs address them. Each segment contains three sessions. During the first, we discuss strategic objectives and performance within one industry group, focusing on the key moving parts, relevant issues and where to look to effectively measure performance. During the second, we use a debate format to focus on how one company within that industry drives performance with respect to these key issues. During the third, we hear from the CFO of that company in a heavily interactive session as to how he or she manages the business with respect to the issues and the sources of information used to manage them.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

Students who participate in this class will be working to accomplish the following objectives:

1. Apply practical thinking skills from various business disciplines to industry issues
2. Develop an appreciation for a financial management perspective on strategic and operational issues
3. Increase resources and skills for business problem-solving
4. Broaden awareness of industry risks and strategies and apply this knowledge to on-the-job situations
5. Experience direct interaction with chief financial officers of major, locally-based entities
6. Grow in excitement for long-term career opportunities

COURSE MATERIALS

Forms 10-K for each of the following companies are available on the internet:

GRADING

We will adhere to the USC Leventhal School of Accounting and Marshall School of Business grading standards for graduate programs. For elective courses, the class average is usually around 3.4, which is between a B+ and an A-. You must receive a C or better to pass this course and you must have an overall B average (3.0 minimum) in order to graduate from USC.

All assignments must be turned in on time in order to receive any credit. No late materials will be accepted.

Assignments	# of Points	% of Overall Grade
2 Written Company Debate Analyses (50pts each)	100	20%
Leadership of 2 Debates (50% group grade and 50% individual grade)	100	20%
Oral Participation	85	17%
Assignments and Attendance	85	17%
2 CFO Question Outlines	30	6%
Final Industry Analysis Project	100	20%
TOTAL	500	100%

Teams

Teams will be used in the debates described below. Each student will be on two debate teams during the semester. Each team will engage as a team in one debate. The debate teams will typically have three or four members. Every student will have an opportunity to agree with one other student to pair up on a team. The professor will then join the pairs or individuals not opting to pair up onto debate teams.

Debates

The class will engage in eight debates throughout the semester, each focusing on a single entity that we are studying. Three teams will lead each debate and will propose specific actions by the entity and support those actions from the perspective of the CFO. The rest of the class functions as the board of directors and will participate in the discussion. The three groups will support their positions and refute the positions of the other groups, all striving to use relevant data.

The debates will be graded for the written four-page outlines, the group oral performance (both group grades) and the individual performance. Grading criteria include strength of support for the group position, effectiveness of countering other group positions, data used in all aspects of the debate and level and quality of the oral comments made, both individually and as a group.

Oral Participation

This course has a heavy emphasis on participation. Students will be graded on the quality and consistency of oral participation in all class sessions. Examples of high quality comments are those that pertain to CFO dashboards or measures and how they are used, current leading issues in a particular industry, aspects of debate positions (when interacting with a CFO in a subsequent session), and typically any comment that reflects advance relevant research on a company, industry or issue. I stress that all students should participate in the debates, not only the students in the debating groups. Students are welcome and encouraged to discuss any aspects of oral participation with me in my office at their convenience. If this is difficult for you, see me at the beginning of the semester and I will give you some tips that will make this much easier for you.

Assignments and Attendance

Students complete approximately seven written assignments. I expect the completed assignments to each be about 1 to 2 pages and require about one hour to complete. Six of the assignments will relate to six entities for which students are not in a debating group. There will be one introductory assignment about CFO goals and measurements. Those assignments must be typed and turned in on the due date according to the syllabus (normally on the dates of the debates).

CFO Question Outlines

Approximately ten chief financial officer guest speakers will address the class throughout the semester. The guest speaker's remarks should comprise up to one-third of the class time and the remaining time will consist of questions and answers. (Some CFOs have no opening remarks and rely only on student questions.) Each student will prepare question outlines relating to two companies and their industries by the dates of the guest speaker presentation for both of those companies. These students will be expected to lead the questioning of the speaker during the presentation, with strong participation of all students in the class.

I expect the question outlines to be approximately two pages and to be tailored to the specific CFO or specific entity. Preparation of the outline should require about one to two hours.

Final Industry Analysis Project

Each student will complete a four-page final paper selecting a single strategic priority that is shared by two of the entities we have analyzed (from different industries) and evaluating their comparative business objectives and operational responses. The papers will be graded on how effectively they address the following points about that single topic:

- Discuss each company's environment and business objectives that surround the strategic priority.
- Compare and contrast the companies' operational responses.
- How can the CFO measure performance with respect to the strategic priority and operational responses?
- How can the company (and CFO) drive behavior and performance to meet the desired objectives? (Include the use of measures, resource allocation and potential returns or rewards to the company.)
- In your opinion, which company (or industry) is more effective in managing these issues and why?
- Finally, what can each company learn from the other?

SAMPLE CLASS PARTICIPATION STATEMENTS

Class participation is an extremely important part of the learning experience in this course as the richness of the learning experience will be largely dependent upon the degree of preparation by all students prior to each class session.

This course includes highly interactive sessions and prominent outside speakers. Such sessions are only effective if all students are consistently prepared. In addition, the participation of the leading CFOs in Southern California is conditioned by them on the attendance of every student for each session. My expectation and that of your classmates are that you are prepared for and attend all classes and will actively participate in and meaningfully contribute to class discussions.

In-class participation is also a critical part of this course's learning experience. Cold calling may take place to encourage active participation and to gain multiple perspectives and points of view, thus lending itself to the richness of the learning experience. In-class participation grading will be based on students' demonstrated willingness to participate and the quality of the comments expressed, rather than quantity. While some students are far more comfortable than others with class participation, all students should make an effort to contribute meaningfully.

Students will offer their opinions in group settings many times in their careers; thus, class participation serves to prepare students for this business experience.

The evaluating of in-class participation is based on the following:

- Relevance – Does the comment or question meaningfully bear on the subject at hand? Irrelevant or inappropriate comments can detract from the learning experience.
- Responsiveness – Does the comment or question connect to what someone else has said?
- Analysis – Is the reasoning employed consistent and logical? Has data from course materials, personal experience, or general knowledge been employed to support the assertions/findings?
- Value – Does the contribution further the understanding of the issues at hand?
- Clarity – Is the comment concise and understandable?

During class sessions, I frequently assume the role of a facilitator to encourage a discussion that includes perspectives from a variety of viewpoints and, secondly, to help pull together prevailing analyses and recommendations. The direction and quality of a discussion is the collective responsibility of the class. During the debates and CFO sessions, I will take notes but will not facilitate the discussions. As a result, all students (not just debate teams) will need to be self-starting throughout the session.

To underscore the importance of participation, 17% percent of the course grade are allocated to class participation. Your participation on debate teams for your two debates is graded separately and is not part of the oral participation grade.
