This course examines the role of developing countries, or what we call the “Global South,” in contemporary world politics. While the Global South numerically consists of the largest number of nations in the world, their impact on world politics is largely limited in comparison to their wealthier and more powerful neighbors in the north. International relations theory is constructed by scholars in the Global North. This course is constructed in part to address former International Studies Association President Amitav Acharya’s call for a more Global Studies approach to the study of international relations. It also addresses the growing importance of developing nations, as emerging economies and potential political powerhouses like China, India and Brazil take a much larger role on the world stage. So it addresses two related questions: does international relations theory accurately describe the politics in the developing world; and how much does this potential power shift from the global north to the global south change international politics?

The broad learning objectives of the course are:

1. Developing an understanding of the historical context by which international relations has developed an understanding of the concept of developing countries” or what we now call the Global South. We will emphasizing the history of colonialism, of weakness, and its position on the periphery of the global order influenced the role it plays in global politics?
2. Explore the difference between the descriptions of traditional international relations theories derived from western history with the experiences of the global south. In particular we will explore the foundational precepts of realism, with its emphasis on the nation-state and on the motivations of power and security, and its accuracy in Africa, as a region with weak national identities, historically dubious borders, and generally weak central governments.
3. Examine how the growing influence of developing nations have changed negotiations within existing global governance institutions, with a particular eye on the World Trade Organization and on institutions of the United Nations system. We will consider how the role of regionalism has enhanced the negotiation positions of developing nations as a tool to pool power in negotiations with more powerful nations. We also will consider how regionalism has played a key role in the domestic governance of developing nations.
4. Develop an understanding of the role of historical memory in identity formation and the important foundational historical experience of colonialism.
5. Introduce new negotiation and cooperation fora such as the BRICS forum promoting cooperation among the strongest developing nations as a potential bloc. We will examine the foreign policies of the BRICS nations and what they seek to accomplish through these negotiations. We further will examine the potential of new institutions may have in restructuring the current architecture of global governance
6. Imagining a world order that is derived from the newly growing influence of developing nations, and how it might differ from the current world order. This reconsideration will focus on potentially different ideologies and the construction of global governance under different power structures. Would a post-western world differ from the current western world?

The assignments for this course are as follows:

Mid-Term 25%
15 page research paper 35%
Final 30%
Class participation 10%

Students will prepare a substantial research paper, drawn from the theoretical issues raised throughout the course. The paper may address one of the key theoretical arguments or it may test one or more of the theoretical issues empirically. All paper topics must be approved by me in advance, to determine whether the topic addresses the themes of the course. I will also provide guidance to aid in the improvement of the research and its presentation. The mid-term and final are in-class, blue-book exams with an emphasis on critical analysis and a short essay format to test retention and understanding of the material. The mid-term is scheduled on the syllabus and the final is as scheduled on the syllabus from the USC Schedule of Classes. Finally, a small percentage of the grade is determined by the student’s participation in classroom discussions as well as attendance. All assignments as listed on the syllabus are to be completed for the class meeting indicated. ALL LATE WORK IS PENALIZED 5 POINTS A DAY AND EXCUSES ARE RESTRICTED TO UNIVERSITY SANCTIONED EXCUSES WITH PROPER DOCUMENTATION.

Grading Scale

Course final grades will be determined using the following scale

- A 94-100
- A- 90-93
- B+ 87-89
- B 83-86
- B- 80-82
- C+ 77-79
- C 73-76
- C- 70-72
- D+ 67-69
- D 63-66
- D- 60-62
- F 59 and below

Grading and Correction of Grades

Excerpts for this section have been taken from the University Grading Handbook, located at http://www.usc.edu/dept/ARR/grades/gradinghandbook/gradingpolicies.html
Please see the link for the course before the semester ends. All missing grades must be resolved by the instructor through the Correction of Grade Process. One calendar year is allowed to resolve a MG. If an MG is not resolved [within] one year the grade is changed to [Unofficial Withdrawal] UW and will be calculated into the grade point average a zero grade points.

A grade of Incomplete (IN) “is assigned when work is not completed because of documented illness or other ‘emergency’ occurring after the twelfth week of the semester (or 12th week equivalency for any course scheduled for less than 15 weeks).” for more details on grading concerns.

A grade of Missing Grade (MG) “should only be assigned in unique or unusual situations... for those cases in which a student does not complete work.

Academic Conduct

USC seeks to maintain an optimal learning environment. Students are expected to submit original work. They have an obligation both to protect their own work from misuse and to avoid using another’s work as their own. All students are expected to understand and abide by the principles of academic honesty outlined in the University Student Conduct Code (see University Governance, Section 11.00) of Scampus (www.usc.edu/scampus or http://scampus.usc.edu). The recommended sanctions for academic integrity violations can be found in Appendix A of the Student Conduct Code.

Emergency preparedness/course continuity

If an officially declared emergency makes travel to campus infeasible, USC Emergency Information http://emergency.usc.edu will provide safety and other updates, including ways in which instruction will be continued by means of Blackboard, teleconferencing, and other technology.

Students with Disabilities

USC is committed to making reasonable accommodations to assist individuals with disabilities in reaching their academic potential. If you have a disability which may impact your performance, attendance, or grades in this course and require accommodations, you must first register with the Office of Disability Services and Programs (www.usc.edu/disability). DSP provides certification for students with disabilities and helps arrange the relevant accommodations. Any student requesting academic accommodations based on a disability is required to register with Disability Services and Programs (DSP) each semester. A letter of verification for approved accommodations can be obtained from DSP. Please be sure the letter is delivered to me as early in the semester as possible. DSP is located in GFS (Grace Ford Salvatori Hall) 120 and is open 8:30 a.m.–5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. The phone number for DSP is (213) 740-0776. Email: ability@usc.edu
