Course Description:

This course introduces students to a core set of basic argumentation theory including analysis and practices related to the art of argumentation and debate. Research and evidence, case construction, refutation; discursive and visual argument; diverse fields of advocacy including law, politics, organizations, interpersonal relations.

Learning Objectives:

Successfully completing the course assignments will help students learn the fundamental skills of argumentation and debate. These skills include:

Critical Thinking Skills: The ability to make reasoned decisions about communication choices, knowing what to do, as well as how and when to do it. In addition, students will learn how to effectively evaluate and critically analyze arguments, including your own.

Political Awareness: Understanding the role, opportunities, norms, and limitations of arguments in public discourse. In particular, students will learn how to define “argument” and “argumentation” and understand their components, relationship, use, objectives, and limitations.

Research Skills: The ability to research topics using credible sources such as books, peer reviewed journal articles, newspaper articles, and interviews.

Performance Skills: Delivery, note taking, and effectively preparing, presenting, and defending arguments.

Listening Skills: Critically engaging classroom speakers and practicing critical evaluation.

Class Readings:

Required Readings

Thomas A. Hollihan and Kevin T. Baaske, Arguments & Arguing (3rd Edition) (2016). Available at the USC Bookstore. Use prior editions at your own risk; they are not the same material. All class assignments, including exams, presume students are using the assigned textbook.

Announcements, Content, Discussion Postings, Links, Etc. on Blackboard.

Recommended Reading

Public Manual of the American Psychological Association, 6th Edition

Class Assignments:

1. Participation – 60 points
2. Issue Analysis Paper – 150 points
3. One v One Issue Debate – 100 points
4. Practice Group Debate – 90 points
5. Exam 1 – 100 points
6. Final Group Debate – 100 points
7. Judge's Ballot – 100 points
8. Exam 2 – 100 points

Assignment Submission Policy:

- A. All assignments are due on the dates specified. Lacking prior discussion and agreement with the instructor, late assignments will automatically be given a grade of F.
- B. Assignments must be submitted via Blackboard.

Breakdown of Grade:

Total Possible: 800 points

Grading Scale –

800-744 = A

743-720 = A-

719-696 = B+

695-662 = B

663-640 = B-

639-615 = C+

614-582 = C

583-560 = C-

Course Grading Policy:

You will receive details about each assignment/exam separately. All assignments need to be completed and handed in on time to avoid a grade reduction. If you are unable to turn in an assignment due to illness or a personal emergency, you must provide written documentation that will allow you to be excused, or discuss your situation with me in a timely manner. Do no wait until the end of the semester to sort things out.

In order to pass this class you will need to complete ALL of the assignments. Failure to complete one or more of them will result in an F in the class.

Grades will be assigned as follows:

- | | |
|-------------|--|
| A/A- | outstanding, thoughtful and enthusiastic work |
| B+/B | above average work, demonstrating good insight into assignment |
| B-/C+ | needs improvement on ideas, argument and follow through |
| C and below | fulfilling the bare minimum and showing little understanding of the material |

If you have concerns regarding a grade on a given assignment, you must appeal it in writing, stating the reasons why you feel the grade is inaccurate, within one week of receiving the graded assignment. No late appeals will be accepted for review.

Other Classroom Policies:

Additional Information on Attendance & Participation

The unique nature of this course necessitates stringent attendance and participation requirements. A common mistake is for students to think that on the days when they are not participating in a debate themselves, there is nothing for them to do in class. Quite the contrary. A major part of what you will learn in this class is how to be an engaged audience member – how to listen to and understand the language strategies involved in good argumentation and debate. The dynamic of argumentation and debate in a functional society is that speakers and audiences need each other not just to be present, but to be engaged. The lectures, textbook, class activities, exams and other coursework provide essential insight into how to be an engaged speaker and audience member. As such, attendance at all class activities is mandatory, and will be factored into your overall grade.

Expectations for Student Attentiveness

On the Days You Are Scheduled to Debate: Due to the difficulty of verifying excuses, and the possibility that some students may be less than honest, virtually no excuse will be accepted for being absent on your debate day. If you do not show up on the day you are assigned to debate and/or are not prepared to debate, you will get a zero for that assignment. You know when class meets, and you will be told in advance when you are scheduled to debate. Being both physically and mentally present for your debates is your obligation. All scheduled debaters for a day must be present at the start of class. Arriving late on the day you are debating will incur a 10% grade penalty for that debate. If you have a truly compelling and verifiable reason for needing to delay your debate, and you contact your Instructor in advance, it may be possible to reschedule your debate, but this is not guaranteed.

On the Days You Are Not Scheduled to Debate: Attendance will be taken at every class session, and students with more than two unexcused absences will be penalized 20 points per absence. These points are deducted from your overall grade, and there is no limit to the deductions. If absent for any reason, it is your responsibility to get missed information from a classmate, and any materials distributed by your Instructor.

Attendance: The textbook is not designed to stand alone; the lectures will introduce and expand upon theoretical and practical concepts essential to understanding argumentation and debate, and lecture material will be included in the exam questions. Attendance will be taken every class. Your Instructor will have a sign-in sheet at the beginning of each class and it is your responsibility to sign your name. Students with more than two unexcused absences from class will have 20 points per absence deducted from their overall grade. To be eligible to have an absence excused, you must provide:

- A. Written evidence of the absolute need for you to be absent (emails are not acceptable);
- B. This evidence must be from an appropriate, verifiable source;

- C. Evidence must be presented to your Instructor no later than one week after the missed class. Except in the cases of extreme emergency, however, students who need to be absent should contact their Instructor at least one week prior to the date they will be absent.

Students with no unexcused absences from class will be rewarded with a 20-point bonus to their overall grade.
