MOR 567: INTERPERSONAL INFLUENCE AND POWER
Fall 2020, TUE, 2:00-4:50PM / ONLINE

Instructor: Nathanael J. Fast, PhD
Office: HOH 404
Office Hours: By appointment, via Zoom
Phone: (213) 740-1047
Email: nathanaf@usc.edu

CLASS DAY AND TIME

This class will be entirely online. Synchronous class sessions will be held Tuesdays from 2:00 – 4:50 p.m. Pacific Time via Zoom. The Zoom link is posted with your Blackboard course pages.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Interpersonal Influence and Power is an elective course designed to help you acquire the knowledge, skills, and strategies necessary to make a lasting impact in the world. Courses on power are among the most sought-after electives in top business schools due to the simple fact that power dynamics are pervasive in organizations and those wishing to achieve personal goals and/or champion new ideas must be savvy about how power and influence work. The purpose of this course is to prepare you for your unique path to power. You will learn how to recognize and deal effectively with the dynamics you will encounter throughout your career as well as think deeply about, and identify, the unique approach to power and influence that is the strongest fit for you.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

Although a popular elective, this course is not for everyone. It requires high commitment and engagement, both inside and outside of class. It requires an open mind and a willingness to explore concepts that are new and uncomfortable. It is a good fit for those who have a passion to make a difference in the world and who are willing to explore new and challenging ideas along the way.

- Global Objective
  - Gain knowledge, skills, and strategies related to power and influence that will help you become effective and impactful in your career of choice.
Detailed Objectives
  - Learn to see the world differently. After the course, you will be able to recognize power dynamics and assess the effectiveness of various decisions that people (including yourself) make. You will also be able to identify alternative actions and opportunities that would have been more/less likely to lead to power.
  - Learn to act differently. After the course, you will have a personal strategic plan that will help you identify and develop your own personal path to power. The path that you choose will be a good fit for you based on your individual strengths, professional goals, and personal values. You will also have new skills, such as acting and speaking with power, that you tried out throughout the class and that you will continue to hone throughout your career.
  - Develop a healthy respect for power and how it changes people over time. You will learn the benefits as well as the costs and pitfalls associated with the pursuit of power, and incorporate this knowledge into your personal plan.

COURSE MATERIALS

Required Materials
  - Power: Why Some People Have It – And Others Don’t, Jeffrey Pfeffer, HarperCollins 2010 (may be purchased online or from the USC bookstore)
  - Course Reader (purchase from the USC bookstore)

Course Notes: Additional class information is available through your Blackboard account.

If you have any questions or need assistance with the Blackboard Course Pages, please contact the Marshall HelpDesk at 213-740-3000 or HelpDesk@marshall.usc.edu.

HOMEWORK

Self-Reflection Assignments (25%). Individual, self-reflection writing assignments will be assigned 4 times throughout the semester. These assignments are an integral part of the course and designed to help you explore the content of the course in the context of your own plans, objectives, values, and experiences. Previous experience suggests that, if taken seriously, these assignments are among the most useful aspects of the course. The assignments are due on Blackboard before the start of the class for which they are assigned. As long as you complete the assignment on time and have put in adequate effort and reflection, you will receive full credit. Late papers (including those turned in after the start of class) will not be accepted. The schedule (and descriptions) of the assignments is listed in this syllabus.

Influence Exercises (17.5%). To fully benefit from the content in this course, you must be willing to apply it. Toward this end, you will be required to complete two influence exercises throughout the semester. In each case, you will be asked to a) apply a concept or tool from the class (more detail will be provided in class) and b) write a brief (1-2 pages, single-spaced) account of your experience and what you learned from it. Deadlines for the assignments are indicated on the class calendar. Assignments will include 1) an interview with a high-status person; 2) a peer coaching exercise.

TEAM PROJECT

Group Project (20%). The group project is described in an addendum at the end of the syllabus. The goal of the project is to have you explore the ideas of the course in a real-world setting. Learning by doing and through intensive involvement results in greater mastery and retention of the material than more passive forms of learning. I encourage you to take the group project seriously and have some fun with it to explore the ideas of the course. You may wish to use the group project to study people in other countries—to test whether or not the principles learned in the class are generalizable. You may wish to use the group project to build relationships in sectors or industries where you want to work, as well as to learn more about interesting people. Group projects are due before the beginning of class on November 10. Late projects will not be graded and will earn zero credit. *Note: you may also wish to use your group as a study team throughout the semester, meeting to discuss case readings, compare notes, study for the final, etc.

FINAL EXAM

Final (25%). The final exam will be open-book and open-note and will include short essay questions. In order to be prepared, do all the assigned readings on time and keep notes on the readings and class discussions. The goal is for you to create a valuable set of notes you can return to again and again throughout your career.

CLASS PARTICIPATION

Class Participation (12.5%). You will only get out of this course as much as you put into it. Your class participation grade will reflect both class attendance and the quality of your involvement in the class’s activities and discussions. Near-perfect, on-time attendance is expected. If you must miss a class session during the semester, please inform me ahead of time and explain the reason you must miss. Otherwise, you are expected to come to each class prepared for discussion, having completed that day’s required reading and prepared insightful comments you plan to make in class. Since I frequently cold call, please avoid embarrassment by telling me before class if you are not prepared.

Class Participation—Behavioral Anchor Rating Scale:
Excellent Performance

- Initiates information relative to topics discussed
- Accurately exhibits knowledge of assignment content
- Clarifies points that others may not understand
- Shares personal experiences or opinions related to topic
- Offers relevant / succinct input to class
- Actively participates in class exercises
- Demonstrates ability to apply, analyze, evaluate & synthesize course material.
- Demonstrates willingness to attempt to answer unpopular questions
- Builds on other students’ contributions

Average Performance

- Participates in group discussions when asked
- Demonstrates knowledge of course material
- Offers clear, concise, “good” information on class assignments
- Offers input, but tends to reiterate the intuitive
- Attends class regularly

Unacceptable Performance

- Fails to participate even when directly asked
- Gives no input to discussions
- Does not demonstrate knowledge of the readings
- Shows up to class: does nothing
- Distracts group / class
- Irrelevant discussion

THE IMPORTANCE OF COURSE EVALUATIONS

The student course evaluations are invaluable to me in getting feedback on how to improve the course. This course has been continuously improved over the years based on feedback from students and instructor observations and I thank you in advance for your help in making the class even better in the future.

CLASSROOM POLICIES

1. Class attendance and participation is important in developing a coherent view of the materials covered in the course. Unless accommodated as described in (b) below, attendance and active participation is expected at the synchronous Zoom class sessions.

   a. Students are expected to have cameras on during the synchronous Zoom sessions, and preferably use headsets or earphones to ensure the best audio quality. Please advise me if you have circumstances under which you will not be able to meet these expectations.

   b. For students who are located in a time zone where the synchronous class sessions or exams fall outside the window of 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. in your local time zone, please contact me. You will not be penalized for not attending the live Zoom class sessions. The Zoom sessions will be recorded and posted on Blackboard, and you will be responsible for watching the recorded sessions. Exams and other synchronous assessments will be scheduled for students to be able to complete the assessment between 7 a.m. and 10 p.m. in your local time zone.

2. During synchronous Zoom sessions, the following netiquette is expected, as if you were in a physical classroom.

   a. Please do:
      i. Log into class early or promptly
      ii. Arrange to attend class where there is a reliable internet connection and without distractions
      iii. Dress respectfully. Video conference business meetings are and will be the norm, so practice your professional telepresence.
      iv. If you use a virtual background, please keep it respectfully professional.
      v. Display both your first and last name during video conferencing and synchronous class meetings.
      vi. Respectfully minimize distractions by muting and or turning off video if necessary and when appropriate.
      vii. Engage in appropriate tone and language with instructors and classmates.

   b. Please try not to:
      i. Engage in a simultaneous activity not related to the class.
      ii. Interact with persons who are not part of the class during the class session.
      iii. Leave frequently or not be on camera for extended periods of time.
      iv. Have other persons or pets in view of the camera.

3. All Zoom sessions will be recorded and posted in the Blackboard Course pages.

TECHNOLOGY REQUIREMENTS

The following equipment and system requirements are recommended to successfully participate in this online course:

- Computer with webcam
- Earphones or headset
- Reliable (preferably high speed) Internet connection
- Current operating system for Windows or Mac
- Current browser
  - Google Chrome
  - Firefox
  - Internet Explorer (not recommended)
  - Safari (Mac)

For technical support please see:
- USC Systems (Blackboard, USC Login, MyUSC, USC Gmail, GoogleApps)
For assistance with your USC login or other USC systems, please call +1 (213) 740-5555 or email Consult@usc.edu. They are open Mon – Fri 9:30am – 5pm and weekends from 8am - 5pm (all Pacific time).

- Zoom Video Web Conferencing System (MarshallTALK)
  For assistance using Zoom, go to Zoom Support Page. You may also call +1 (888) 799-9666 ext. 2. They are available 24/7.

  For assistance with Marshall systems you can call +1 (213) 740-3000 Mon-Fri 8am-6pm (Pacific), email HelpDesk@marshall.usc.edu, or use our self-help service portal as shown below. The portal allows you to get immediate assistance by searching for the information you need. You can also use it to chat with a technician or input a request. To access the service portal, follow these steps:
  o On a computer or mobile device, go to MyMarshall Home Page and click the “Help” link on the upper right.
  o Log in using your Marshall username and password.
    (If you don’t know your Marshall login please follow the onscreen instructions pertaining to login issues)

If your computer does not have Microsoft Word, Office 365 package is available to you free of charge and allows you to install Word, Excel, PowerPoint, Outlook, OneNote, Publisher, and Access on up to 5 PCs or Macs and Office apps on other mobile devices including tablets. Office 365 also includes unlimited cloud storage on OneDrive. To download Office 365 log into your student (University) email through a web browser, choose Settings (top right corner), and select software. If you have further questions or need help with the software, please contact the USC ITS service portal.

STATEMENT OF ACADEMIC CONDUCT AND SUPPORT SYSTEMS

USC seeks to maintain an optimal learning environment. Students are expected to submit original work. They have an obligation both to protect their own work from misuse and to avoid using another’s work as their own. All students are expected to understand and abide by the principles of academic honesty outlined in the University Student Conduct Code (see University Governance, Section 11.00) of SCampus (www.usc.edu/scampus or http://scampus.usc.edu). The recommended sanctions for academic integrity violations can be found in Appendix A of the Student Conduct Code.

Students with Disabilities:
USC is committed to making reasonable accommodations to assist individuals with disabilities in reaching their academic potential. If you have a disability which may impact your performance, attendance, or grades in this course and require accommodations, you must first register with the Office of Disability Services and Programs (www.usc.edu/disability). DSP provides certification for students with disabilities and helps arrange the relevant accommodations. Any student requesting academic accommodations based on a disability is required to register with Disability Services and Programs (DSP) each semester. A letter of verification for approved accommodations can be obtained from DSP. Please be sure the letter is delivered to me (or to your TA) as early in the semester as possible. DSP is located in GFS (Grace Ford Salvatori Hall) 120 and is open 8:30 a.m.–5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. The phone number for DSP is (213) 740-0776. Email: ability@usc.edu.

DETAILED SESSION INFORMATION
Reminders: Jeffrey Pfeffer’s “Power: Why Some People Have it – And Others Don’t” is a required text. Other readings will be included in the course reader, which is also required. Adequate preparation for class includes reading all assigned readings before that session’s class meeting.

TUE, AUG 18:

Power Model

Assigned readings:
- Course syllabus
- Case: Keith Ferrazzi
- Pfeffer, Introduction and Ch. 1

TUE, AUG 25:

Find Your Purpose

Assigned readings:

Reflection Assignment 1:

- Identifying and pursuing a sense of purpose in your personal and professional life facilitates power and influence. Moreover, it guides how you gain and use power, keeping you on track to achieve the type of impact you’d like to make in the world. In contrast, lacking a clear understanding of your purpose can hinder your career as well as lead you down a path you never intended to travel. Reflect on your goals, values, and ambitions and write a 1-page reflection that describes your purpose. Do not list abstract goals, such as “find happiness” or “become successful.” Everyone wants those things. Instead, identify the unique values and achievements that would allow you to truly feel fulfilled and satisfied. Similarly, avoid simply identifying roles you could fill, such as “CEO” or “Consultant.” Instead, provide answers to the following: Who do you want to be? What do you want to do/achieve with the role/s you fill throughout your career; why are these values and goals important to you?

TUE, SEPT 1:

Manage the Self

Assigned readings:
- Case: Tristan Walker: The Extroverted Introvert
- Tony Schwartz and Catherine McCarthy, “Manage Your Energy, Not Your Time”
- Pfeffer, Ch. 2

Reflection Assignment 2 (complete Part 1 of the assignment before you do the Pfeffer reading):

- Part 1: Reflect on the success you’ve had so far in your life. Then, write a one page essay about the particular aspects of your personality, skills and abilities, and “character” that you believe have been central in helping you get ahead in life. In other words, describe the personal attributes, qualities, and abilities you possess that you believe have made (and will make) you effective in obtaining your goals.

- Part 2: After completing the essay for Part 1, read Ch. 2 from Pfeffer’s Power. Below your essay, make a list of the dimensions he highlighted in the chapter and rate yourself on those dimensions on a 1-5 scale (1 means you possess little of the attribute & 5 means you possess lots of it). Include these ratings with Part 1 when turning in the assignment.

TUE, SEPT 8:

See the Situation

Assigned readings:
- Case: Carla Ann Harris at Morgan Stanley
- Pfeffer, Ch. 2-4

TUE, SEPT 15:

Build Your Network: Part 1

*Turn in group project topic by or before this date.

Assigned readings:
- Case: Built on Grit: h.wood and John Terzian

TUE, SEPT 22:

ELC activity

Assigned readings:
- Pfeffer, Ch. 5

Reflection Assignment 3:

- It is useful to think about how we spend our time, with whom, and how our contacts and networks are (or are not) consistent with where we might need to build our power base. Write a one- or two-page essay in which you consider the following questions:

  - With whom do you spend the most time? Why?
  - Given your career ambitions and what you want to accomplish in your life, who (not necessarily by name, but by position or location in the social space) are the most important individuals for you to build relationships with?
  - What is the structure of your network? Do you have lots of “weak ties” or connections to people who can provide you novel information? Are you central in any networks?
  - What are the barriers that prevent you from building the network you need?
  - Considering your answers to the above questions, what might you do differently if you wanted to increase your influence and build a more effective network?
TUE, SEPT 29:

Build Your Network: Part 2

Assigned readings:
- Case: Ross Walker’s Path to Power
- Pfeffer, Ch. 6

TUE, OCT 6:

Asserting Influence: Techniques and Tactics

Assigned readings:
- Case: Iggy’s Bread of the World

TUE, OCT 13:

Asserting Influence: Acting With Power

Assigned readings:
- Case: Rebecca S. Halstead - Steadfast Leadership
- Pfeffer, Ch. 7-8

Influence Exercise #1 (interview)

- Identify a high-profile individual who has achieved success in a particular domain. This might be a younger person (e.g., from the Forbes 30-under-30 list) or a more established leader or executive. Look for someone who has unique knowledge and expertise that could help you become more successful as well. Reach out to the person and set up an interview (video call is fine). From the interview construct a brief (1-2 pages, single-spaced) report of the key lessons that the person shared with you. Describe the lessons and provide examples from the person’s own experience that illustrates the lesson/s. Finish by articulating how you and others in the class might use what you learned as a way to become more influential.

TUE, OCT 20:

ELC activity

Assigned readings:
- Pfeffer, Ch. 9-10

TUE, OCT 27:

Make it Stick: Garnering Resources and Leading Change

Assigned readings:
- Case: Dr. Laura Esserman

Reflection Assignment 4:
• Write an “aspirational obituary” in which you write down all the things you hope you will have achieved and done with your life once all is said and done. It can be in bullet point form if you prefer. When you finish, look over what you have written and then write answers to the following questions:
  ▪ Given what I wrote, am I on the right track? Am I satisfied with the direction in which my career and life is currently headed?
  ▪ Am I happy with the impact (both magnitude and quality) I’ve had in the world?
  ▪ Am I creating a legacy I’m happy with?
  ▪ What’s missing from my life, if anything? What might I need to do in order to achieve my aspirational obituary?
• Next, please prepare a one-page “development plan” that specifies what, specifically, you plan to do—both now and in the future—to develop skills and competencies in power and influence that you want to build.

TUE, NOV 3:

Make it Stick: How Power is Lost (and Kept)

Assigned readings:
• Case: Jeffrey Sonnenfeld - The fall from grace

Influence Exercise #2 (coaching exercise)

• The purpose of this exercise is to learn through teaching. Set up a meeting (1-hour or longer) to interview another student in the MBA program who has not taken (and is not currently taking) MOR 567. The student can be any year in the program, but the earlier the better, so that he/she can take advantage of your advice. Develop a set of questions that you plan to ask and write them down ahead of time. Then, in the meeting, ask the questions and take notes so that you have a record of the person’s answers. You should try to come to an understanding of the person’s 1) personal and professional history, 2) clarity or lack of clarity about purpose, 3) strategies, skills, abilities, and connections that could lead to power, and 4) strengths and weaknesses. After the meeting, create a summary of the person’s opportunities and challenges and, using content from the class, make a set of suggestions that the person can consider. Give the student a copy for his/her benefit. Bring your questions/notes and suggestions in a hard copy to turn in at the beginning of class.

TUE, NOV 10:

Course overview and group presentations.

Assigned readings:
• Pfeffer, Ch. 11-13

TUE, NOV 17:

Final exam, Tue., 11/17, 2PM - 4PM
GROUP PROJECT ASSIGNMENT AND INSTRUCTIONS

1) You will form a group consisting of 6 people.

2) No later than Sep. 15, please let me know who your group has chosen as its focus for the project. Do so by emailing me with the person’s name and why he/she would be a good person to study.

Your assignment is to do “field research” on how individuals obtain and exercise influence, as a way of seeing how the material from the class is, or could be, put into use. Power becomes more visible and is exercised more clearly where there is opposition, where something needs to get done and resistance must be overcome. Think carefully about that in choosing the focus for your project.

Your “subject” should be someone who is either a) relatively early in his or her career and is perhaps 5-10 years down the road from where you’re at, or b) someone who has already reached achieved a great deal of power as a means to achieve his/her purpose. Ideally, the person will be someone that you can interview in person and, even better, perhaps also gather some insights from talking to her or his colleagues and others. Past graduates from USC who are doing exceptionally well or, alternatively, who have had problems because of political issues, would be ideal as the focus of your analysis (please, no USC profs). If you have questions about whether or not a specific individual would be appropriate, please feel free to ask me after class or via email.

In thinking about how to write the analysis and do the project, you can (but don’t have to) use one or all of the organizing themes of the course as a guide. You could consider rating the person’s strengths and weaknesses in each dimension (e.g., purpose, manage the self, see the situation, etc.). You might want to articulate how this person overcame opposition and resistance. You could analyze how the individual prepared himself or herself for the path to power. You could illustrate how the person lost power, or, alternatively, what he/she did to hold onto power against significant opposition and challenges. You could analyze how some individual established a domain, by acquiring resources, attracting allies, and so forth.

Length is not the defining characteristic of a good analysis. Try to concisely cover the material (using exhibits as needed). Use analysis and insight to convey what you have learned and discovered.

3) Final written projects are due at the beginning of class on November 10.

4) You must be prepared to present your findings to the class in a 5-10-minute presentation on Nov 11. Be creative in how you choose to present the lessons you learned (multimedia, short video clips, reenactments, etc.).

TO MAKE THE ASSIGNMENT MORE INTERESTING, USEFUL, AND SUCCESSFUL:

   a) Use as many sources of information as possible—archives, interviews with the individual and others, public sources (if available). In other words, to the extent possible, triangulate to get the most valid information possible. In particular, the subject of your paper is likely to provide information that is at least unintentionally (and possibly intentionally) biased and self-serving.

   b) Please proofread your paper to eliminate typographical errors.

   c) Include sources when possible. If you have relied on sources, particularly published sources, and particularly if there is a direct quote, please provide a footnote indicating the source.
