

BISC 194 (Introduction to Research II), Spring 2021

Catalog Description

A series of lectures and discussions at which faculty of the department introduce their research activities to students entering biology and related majors. Co-requisite: BISC 220Lg or BISC 221Lg. Instruction Mode: Lecture. Grading Option: Credit/No Credit. 1 Unit. Note: Students who wish to take BISC 194, but do not have the BISC 220/221 co-requisite, should contact Prof. Herrera regarding permission to register.

Overview / Learning Objectives

One of the greatest advantages of studying at a research university is the opportunity to be taught, advised, and mentored by faculty members whose activities include creating new knowledge in their fields. This course will give students a chance to meet some of these faculty members, hear about their research, ask questions, and perhaps establish mentoring or advising relationships that will benefit students' career development. It is also designed to facilitate students' involvement in faculty-mentored research, i.e., finding positions in research laboratories. The course is intended for students at any level who are majoring in Biological Sciences, Human Biology, Quantitative Biology, Neuroscience, Health and Human Sciences, Health and Humanity, Environmental Science and Health, Human Development and Aging, Health Promotion and Disease Prevention Studies, and other programs with a life science emphasis. It will be valuable for students interested in careers in the health professions.

Instructor

Professor Albert Herrera, Neurobiology Section, Department of Biological Sciences

Contact Information: aherrera@usc.edu, telephone (213) 740-9177

Office hours: By appointment, via Zoom. Please email Dr. Herrera with times you would be available to meet.

Course Format

The course consists of twelve 50-minute seminars, on Tuesdays, 11:00-11:50 am. All seminars will be presented via live Zoom video conferencing. Links to the Zoom meetings will be posted on Blackboard (blackboard.usc.edu). Seminars will be recorded and archived on Blackboard. Because grading will be based primarily on students' participation (see below), attending and engaging in the live seminar is essential. We will not meet on January 19 to give students time to acclimate to the new semester, on March 23 to observe a Wellness Day, nor on April 27 to give students extra time to prepare for final exams and assignments in other classes. Each meeting will consist of a seminar given by a faculty member, with time reserved for students' questions and comments.

Textbooks

- There is no assigned textbook. Supplemental reading material will be posted on Blackboard.

Blackboard <https://blackboard.usc.edu/>

- All course materials, information, and announcements will be posted on Blackboard until the end of the semester. Blackboard is to be used only for appropriate, course-related activities.

Grading

- Assigned grades will be Credit or No Credit. No letter grades will be assigned.
- Grading will be based on each student's engagement with the lecture presentations, judged primarily by asking of pertinent questions, discussion, and attentiveness. While credit is not given for solely for attendance, attendance is obviously necessary for participation. There will be no exams.
- At about the midpoint of the semester, each student will receive a brief report on their class standing.
- Credit will only be given for the items listed above. No extra credit will be given.

Impairments Affecting Your Performance

- Students occasionally encounter difficulties that affect their academic performance, such as illness, accidents, bereavement, depression, anxiety, learning disabilities, and other problems. If you encounter such difficulties, please contact one of the support services listed below, or bring them to the attention of one of the instructors. We may be able to offer accommodations. All such discussions will be confidential. Please seek help as soon as you feel your performance or well-being is affected.

Support Services

- Discrimination, sexual assault, and harassment are not tolerated by the university. You are encouraged to report any incidents as soon as possible. Reporting such incidents is important for the safety of the whole USC community. Another member of the university community – such as a friend, classmate, advisor, or faculty member – can help initiate the report, or can initiate the report on behalf of another person. A list of offices to which one can report such incidents, as well as sources of support for other issues, follows.

Academic Integrity

- Our university depends on honesty, integrity, and ethical behavior among its members. Among other things, students’ ethical behavior includes respecting the intellectual property of others, submitting individual work unless otherwise directed by the instructor, protecting one’s own academic work from misuse by others, and avoiding the use of another’s work as one’s own.

- Please note that sanctions for violations are severe. This is necessary to protect the integrity of grades and the academic process. The minimum sanction is usually an F for the course. Suspension or expulsion from the university is also possible in egregious cases or for repeat offenses.

Students with Disabilities

Any student requesting academic accommodations based on a disability is required to register with the Office of Disability Services and Programs (DSP) each semester. A letter of verification for approved accommodations can be obtained from DSP and should be delivered to the Lab Manager early in the semester. For more information, you can visit the DSP office in GFS 120 (8:30-5:00, M-F), call at 213-740-0776, email at ability@usc.edu, or go to their website: http://sait.usc.edu/academicsupport/centerprograms/dsp/home_index.html.

Policies Concerning Student-Athletes

Student-athletes may not be penalized when University-sanctioned competitions conflict with course activities. When a class will be missed for a sanctioned competition, it is the student-athlete's responsibility to approach the instructor in advance. The student-athlete must provide the instructor with an official letter from Student-Athlete Academic Services (SAAS, <https://saas.usc.edu/academic-support-services/travel/>). The letter must certify that the competition is a University-sponsored event that deserves accommodation. Accommodations will not be made for other types of conflicting events. Details on the University's policy can be found at <http://www.usc.edu/admin/provostoffice/ocaaa/guidelines.html>. Arrangements for the accommodation must be agreed upon in advance of the event. If multiple team members will be absent, each must make an individual arrangement with the instructor.

Email Communication

To ensure privacy, only students' USC accounts (usc.edu domain name) can be used for email communications regarding confidential matters. Students are responsible for understanding the content of official messages sent to their USC accounts.

Emergency Preparedness / Course Continuity

If an officially declared emergency makes travel to campus infeasible, USC Emergency Information (<http://emergency.usc.edu/> or 213-740-9233) will provide information related to safety and course continuity. We expect that instruction will be continued by means of Blackboard, teleconferencing, and other technologies. Alternative assignments may be given if classes are canceled for prolonged periods. If you have not already done so, please register with TrojansAlert (<https://trojansalert.usc.edu/>) to facilitate communication during emergencies.
