Recommended Preparation: ISE 225 Engineering Statistics I (or equivalent)

Objective: In this course, you will develop the skills necessary to plan efficient data collection activities, derive empirical models of physical systems, and perform sequential optimization studies based upon the empirical models.

Text: Myers, Montgomery, and Anderson-Cook, Response Surface Methodology, fourth edition

Course Material: Chapters 1-8 and 11 of the text, plus topics discussed in lecture by the instructor

Grading Policies:

Points Breakdown -

Homework	90
Project	150
Midterm Exam	140
Final Exam	120
Total	500

Course GRADES will be determined by the distribution of point totals for the class. “Natural groupings” will be used to assign letter grades. The highest scoring group will receive A’s, the next group is the B’s, and so on. A single point will not be the difference between any two letter grades. A “gap” must exist to create a grade boundary.

HOMEWORK assignments will be due on the following Thursdays:

February 4, 11, 18, 25; March 25; April 1

Homework will be graded on an “all or nothing” basis. If a paper shows an answer to each assigned exercise that uses approximately the correct method, the grade for the assignment is 15 points. If any exercise is unacceptable, the grade for the assignment is 0 points. Late assignments will be accepted until the Monday following the original due date.

A PROJECT will be due on the following date:

Tuesday, April 20

The project will involve investigation and optimization of a response surface. You will collect data from a computer simulation, in order to model the surface. For this project, you may work either individually or in pairs. The project assignment will be distributed about two or three weeks in advance of the due date.

The MIDTERM EXAM will be given on the following date:

Thursday, March 4

The exam will cover the material presented up to and including the preceding homework assignment. Points will be assigned to each section of the exam. Partial credit will be awarded according to work shown. No re-takes will be allowed. No make-up exam will be given.

The FINAL EXAM is scheduled for Thursday, May 6, at 2:00-4:00. It will cover material since the midterm exam, and will be graded similarly to the midterm exam.
