

FALL 2021 - CTCS 469

Romance, Stylized

Thursdays 10am-1:50pm, SCI 108
Dr. Katherine Steinbach

This seminar will explore romance in its various styles and sub-categories. From fairytales to Regency romps to paranormal paramours, we'll analyze how and why these stories make our hearts race. Films and series screened will also push the boundaries of romance, reaching into other genres and asking critical questions about romantic form and function. Students should expect to chart narrative beats, participate in a workshop on slash fiction, and write reflection essays on readings and screenings.
