Course Description
The purpose of this course is to teach students how to write grant proposals for nonprofit organizations and provide opportunities to practice grant writing skills. High-quality grant writing requires well-researched prospects, the ability to describe practical programs with clear and measurable benefits to the community, well-articulated statements of need, and jargon-free writing. During the course, students will learn specific skills to strengthen these core elements of a written proposal, and then they will practice applying those skills to a case study organization arranged by the instructor. By the end of the class, students will write an analysis of prospective funding opportunities and one full proposal.

A real nonprofit organization will participate as a live case study for this class. Students will have the opportunity to write and research for the organization’s program. The instructor will select the organization(s) prior to the start of the semester.

Students should note that this class is a writing class; therefore, lessons will include weekly writing activities and critique. While college-level command of written English conventions is expected, non-native English writers and speakers are encouraged to take the class. Anyone needing additional support with English writing conventions (whether a native English writer or not) can request to be directed to available campus resources.

Please also note that this intensive is structured as 6 synchronous classes supplemented with weekly, online asynchronous writing assignments. Use of Blackboard is required.

Learning Objectives
The overall objective of this course is to learn how to construct a high-quality grant proposal for a nonprofit organization to a private foundation. Many of the skills you will learn in this class also are applicable to writing government grant proposals.

In addition, students will learn to:
- Collect information from client organizations to be used in grant proposals.
- Write measurable program outcomes that can be used as goals, deliverables, and evaluation measures in grant proposals.
- Research, analyze, and prioritize potential grant opportunities for highest compatibility and likelihood of success.
- Analyze grant proposals for persuasiveness and the quality and clarity of prose and apply those lessons to their own writing.

Prerequisites: none
Co-requisite/Concurrent Enrollment: none
Recommended Preparation: none

Course Notes:
This two-credit intensive course will meet in-person five times during the semester and once over Zoom. During the weeks between in-person/Zoom meetings, there will be asynchronous weekly writing assignments, so students will need to check Blackboard for those assignments every week. All course materials will be provided through Blackboard; the purchase of books is not necessary.
Technological Proficiency and Hardware/Software Required
Students must be able to access Zoom and Blackboard on a weekly basis.

USC Technology Rental Program
If we should need to switch to online instruction, USC realizes that attending classes online and completing coursework remotely requires access to technology that not all students possess. If you need resources to successfully participate in your classes, such as a laptop or internet hotspot, you may be eligible for the University’s Equipment Rental Program. To apply, please submit an application. The Student Basic Needs team will contact all applicants in early August and distribute equipment to eligible applicants prior to the start of the fall semester.

USC Technology Support Links

Blackboard help for students

Required Readings and Supplementary Materials:
All required reading, video, or audio links will be posted on Blackboard. No purchase of books is necessary.

Description and Assessment of Assignments
Throughout the course, students will be expected to participate in written assignments, both on Blackboard and in class. The two main written assignments (Funder Research Summary and Full Proposal) have detailed instructions and scoring rubrics which will be provided to students through Blackboard at the beginning of the semester.

Funder Research Summary, due Thursday, September 30th by 11:59pm PT: For this assignment, students will write a two- to three-page memo to the instructor that describes the search for a funder for the case study organization. The student’s goal for this assignment is both to find potential funders for the organization and to reflect on the process of researching the funder and analyzing the prospects for a match. More details are provided in the Assignment Description in Blackboard.

Grant Proposal, due Monday, December 6th by 11:59 pm PT: Students are required to submit an electronic copy of the grant proposal to the instructor according to all of the instructions provided. The grant proposal will be assessed according to the scoring rubric laid out in the assignment instructions. The full proposal will be based on the case study organization. More details are provided in the Assignment Description in Blackboard.

Weekly Online Written Assignments, due as assigned and indicated in Blackboard by 11:59 pm Pacific Time (PT): During the weeks when there is no in-person class, students are expected to participate in short, weekly online assignments. These assignments are located in the Content section of Blackboard and are organized by week. Weekly online written assignments are designed as common sections of full grant proposals and are intended to help spread out the writing task over several weeks by doing them in discrete chunks. These assignments are also opportunities for students to receive direct feedback on their drafts from the instructor. They are graded only for participation, so as to encourage learning through a low-stakes writing environment. Assignments are due as indicated in Blackboard.

Class participation points are earned by attending the full synchronous classes and participating in activities. This class is designed as a “flipped classroom,” meaning that lectures and readings are done asynchronously outside of class time, while synchronous class time is dedicated to active learning exercises that reinforce the material. Therefore, class participation in the synchronous class meetings is critical.

However, if online instruction is necessary and a student’s time zone presents a challenge related to attendance and participation in synchronous class sessions, then the student should notify the instructor by email and arrange for reasonable asynchronous learning accommodations. The University considers reasonable hours in the student’s time zone to be 7:00 am to 10:00 pm.

Assignment Submission Policy

All assignments are to be submitted electronically through Blackboard by 11:59 pm PT on the dates noted or unless otherwise indicated. If you need to turn in an assignment... late, please contact the instructor immediately to make arrangements. Otherwise, late assignments (Funder Research Summary and Grant Proposal) are docked one point for every hour (including fractions of an hour) they are late. Weekly Online Written Assignment points earned through Blackboard participation (five instances) may be earned only during the week they are current (responses must be posted by 11:59 pm PT of the day they are due). Students who submit on time can expect to receive feedback in a timely manner (within a week). Students who submit late work are subject to receiving feedback according to the instructor’s availability.

Camera Policy

Acknowledging that class dynamics are substantially compromised without the ability to see the people in class, students are requested to have their cameras on during synchronous online sessions. Students may use virtual backgrounds, which will eliminate most privacy concerns, and earphones or headsets to improve audio quality. Accommodations can be made available to students who contact the instructor directly with reasonable requests.

Course Schedule: A Breakdown by Class

In keeping with a “flipped classroom” pedagogy, each session will include exercises that will give students opportunities to learn and practice their skills and to ask questions as challenges arise. The emphasis of the course is on hands-on, real-time learning, and all activities will produce information that is necessary for subsequent assignments. Weekly attendance and active participation is critical. (However, if we are engaged in online instruction and if a student’s time zone presents a challenge related to attendance and participation in synchronous class sessions, then the student should notify the instructor by email and arrange for reasonable asynchronous learning accommodations. The University considers reasonable hours in the student’s time zone to be 7:00 am to 10:00 pm.)

Statement for Students with Disabilities

Any student requesting academic accommodations based on a disability is required to register with Disability Services and Programs (DSP) each semester. A letter of verification for approved accommodations can be obtained from DSP. Please be sure the letter is delivered to me (or to TA) as early in the semester as possible. DSP is located in Grace Ford Salvatori Hall, Room 120 at 3601 Watt Way and is open 8:30 am-5:00 pm, Monday through Friday.

Website and contact information for DSP:
http://sait.usc.edu/academicsupport/centerprograms/dsp/home_index.html, (213) 740-0776 (Phone), (213) 814-4618 (Video Phone), (213) 740-8216 (FAX), ability@usc.edu.

Statement on Academic Integrity

USC seeks to maintain an optimal learning environment. General principles of academic honesty include the concept of respect for the intellectual property of others, the expectation that individual work will be submitted unless otherwise allowed by an instructor, and the obligations both to protect one's own academic work from misuse by others as well as to avoid using another's work as one's own. All students are expected to understand and abide by these principles. SCampus, the Student Guidebook, (www.use.edu/scampus or http://scampus.usc.edu) contains the University Student Conduct Code (see University Governance, Section 11.00), while the recommended sanctions are located in Appendix A.

Students will be referred to the Office of Student Judicial Affairs and Community Standards for further review, should there be any suspicion of academic dishonesty.
Review process can be found at: http://www.usc.edu/student-affairs/SJACS/.
Information on intellectual property at USC is available at:

Emergency Preparedness/Course Continuity in a Crisis
In the case of a declared emergency if travel to campus is not feasible, USC executive leadership will announce an electronic way for instructors to teach students in their residence halls or homes using a combination of Blackboard, teleconferencing, and other technologies.

Please activate your course in Blackboard with access to the course syllabus. Whether or not you use Blackboard regularly, these preparations will be crucial in an emergency. USC’s Blackboard learning management system and support information is available at blackboard.usc.edu.

Recording Online Classes
USC policy requires that all classes conducted online be recorded for asynchronous viewing with transcriptions made available. Recordings ensure that all classes are ADA compliant, and can be freely accessed at all times by students irrespective of the region or time zone they are studying from. To make this requirement easier for faculty, ITS has set up Zoom to automatically record and transcribe class sessions, which are then made available to students and faculty for all classes in Blackboard.

As students may be personally identifiable in class recordings via their voice, name, or image, these recordings may be considered “educational records” subject to federal privacy laws (FERPA). However, as long as the recordings are posted to an appropriate class website (such as Blackboard or Zoom) that is accessible only to students enrolled in the class and instructors, TAs, graders, and student services staff members, these recordings are FERPA compliant.

Sharing of course materials outside of the learning environment
Students are not permitted to create their own class recordings without the instructor’s permission. Violations of these policies will be met with the appropriate disciplinary sanction.

Distribution or use of notes or recordings based on university classes or lectures without the express permission of the instructor for purposes other than individual or group study is a violation of the USC Student Conduct Code. This includes, but is not limited to, providing materials for distribution by services publishing class notes. This restriction on unauthorized use also applies to all information, which had been distributed to students or in any way had been displayed for use in relationship to the class, whether obtained in class, via email, on the Internet or via any other media. (SeeSection C.1 Class Notes Policy).
