Course Description
This course is an introduction to legal considerations that may arise in developing and producing content in all forms of media. It is designed to provide you with a basic understanding of the various players, their roles, rights and ownership, contracts, and the disparate laws, rules and regulations that may apply to a media project. You will become familiar with the business side of project development and production, whether in a corporate, entrepreneurial, or independent production setting.

Learning Objectives
This course will allow you to approach your projects with an understanding of basic legal concepts. Read through contracts with awareness, hone your negotiating skills and develop critical thinking.

More specifically, upon completion of this course you will be able to:

- Describe the various aspects of business affairs in the entertainment industry
- Differentiate the distinguishing roles of agents, managers, lawyers, buyers, etc., analyze their interplay and ethical implications of potential conflicts
- Explain basic legal concepts essential for project development and completion
- Explain copyrights and intellectual property and their legal and ethical implications
- Understand different types of corporate entities, the pros and cons, and specifically, a special purpose LLC (limited liability company)
- Identify the role and impact of the various industry unions
• Analyze and negotiate project contracts

Course Materials (required)

• Appleton, D. and Yankelevits, D. Hollywood Dealmaking: Negotiating Talent Agreements for Film, TV, and Digital Media. Allworth; 3rd edition (July 17, 2018) (available on Amazon)

• Cases and other readings will be available through Blackboard. Please complete reading assignments before the class as we will be discussing the reading material in class.

Description and Assessment of Assignments

This course has two assignments, and two tests. Additional Information will be shared on Blackboard.

• Assignment 1, Week 5 (in class): Deal Memo (10%). Length: 2-3 pages, with appropriate sections. You may work in pairs, but each student will draft a Deal Memo from one of the following: optioning a screenplay; engaging a writer for a project; or attaching a key element: producer, director, name talent, or key department head. The Deal Memo will be graded based on 1) whether all material terms were addressed (50%); 2) clear and concise writing (50%).

• Assignment 2, due Week 13: Project Pitch & Presentation (40%) There will be 8 teams of 5-6 students. Two teams will work on the same project concept, but they are free to develop the project in different directions. The teams will identify their projects, create a pitch deck, prepare documents to move the project forward, and present to the class – this is both a pitch to the class and a status report. You will draft and try to get the other team to sign your project documents. Presentation length: 10 -15 minutes. Visuals are required. Your presentation will be assessed on covering all the key pitch points, the deal memos drafted/ signed, accuracy of the deal memos, and the team’s self-assessment of what was good, what was challenging, what they felt could be done differently or better, what was accomplished, and what their next steps will be.

• Midterm: Two sections: Short Case Study/Short Answer and Multiple Choice.

• Final Exam: Multiple Choice based on In-Class discussions and reading material.

• Participation: Students are expected to come to class prepared with well thought out questions for every topic and guest speaker (TBD) and readily participate in class discussions.
