OVERVIEW AND GOALS

Creating a senior film can be an overwhelming undertaking, it is difficult to know where to start. This course will support you in creating a clear concept for your film and how to successfully approach the creation process. Along the way we will explore different animation techniques, planning tools, pitching skills, approaches to design and story and much more. Each assignment has been strategically created with the creative process, the faculty pitch and your senior film in mind.

OVERVIEW This course is aimed at digging into the important questions and topics before you commit to your senior film. We will incorporate activities and discussions to think deeply about what makes a senior film successful and how best to approach your own senior film. We will explore story and art styles and mediums, we will discuss duration and content. Each week will build on the previous week, with the intention of setting you up for success in your senior film and beyond.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES AND OUTCOMES At the completion of the course, you will have a clear idea for your senior film, will know what you will be creating and the process by which you will approach your film. Additionally, you will feel prepared and ready for your senior film pitch.

PARTICIPATION EXPECTATIONS The format of the course each week will be similar. We will begin each week watching a professionally created and/or student created short film to deconstruct the film thematically, visually and technically. This will be followed by roughly two hours of lecture, assignment debriefs, discussions and other activities. During this time, the expectation is that you will be actively engaged in the discussion and activities. Following this period we will have a short break and transition into you working on your senior film prep. During that time Josh and Nic will be available for individual support and consultation.
