

COLT 374mg: Women Writers in Europe and America

Spring 2022 | T/Th 12:30-1:50pm | Mode: Hybrid

Dr. Margaret (Tita) Rosenthal - mrosenth@usc.edu

We will examine the poems, dialogues, letters, short stories, novels, speeches and essays of a number of exemplary women authors with diverse backgrounds from western Europe and America. From the Middle Ages to the contemporary period, you will gain an understanding of how society treated women unequally, how these authors' works were produced, and how they responded to misogynous treatment in their writing.

Artemisia Gentileschi, Self-Portrait as the Allegory of Painting (1639)

COLT 374g will fulfill the GE/B Humanistic Inquiry requirement. It will also count as an English Language elective for students pursuing the Italian Major or Minor.
