Course Description

Effective financial decision-making is essential to the success of any business. Financiers, CFOs, treasurers, controllers, managers, or anyone involved in financial decision-making, must understand the concepts of finance and financial management in relation to economic developments and in a world of market uncertainties.

BUAD 306 provides an introduction to the modern theory and practice of corporate finance. The objective of the course is to gain an understanding of financial decisions that managers make in evaluating investment opportunities and how to finance those opportunities. In addition, we will explore how these decisions affect the value of the firm and how the firm interacts with the capital markets.

During the semester, you will learn how financiers think, what the role of the financial decision-maker is, and how financial management concerns the management of modern enterprise. More specifically, you will learn how financiers break down components of financial problems, and how they then arrive at investment decisions as individual or corporate investors.

By the end of the semester, you should be familiar with financial vocabulary, understand aspects of financial theory, develop skills in financial computation, and appreciate the underlying financial mindset as well as incentives involved when solving problems of finance.

Learning Objectives

Through lecture, worked samples, and by learning to apply appropriate mathematical and financial formulas and functions, you will be able to:

1. Explain the meaning of time value of money and how to calculate and evaluate the trade-off between dollars today and dollars sometime in the future.
2. Perform discounted cash flow (DCF) and net present value (NPV) analysis in making financial decisions.
3. Value capital assets using the Capital Asset Pricing Model (CAPM), highlighting the central role of portfolio diversification and the beta coefficient.
4. Calculate the different criteria used to evaluate proposed investments (e.g., NPV and IRR).
5. Determine a company's financial risk and its cost of capital (WACC).
6. Recognize and explain the elements of optimal capital structure, the effects of financial leverage, bankruptcy, and the role of taxes.

These course level objectives align with selected Marshall Program Learning Goals.

Required Materials

The required text is Fundamentals of Corporate Finance, 12th Edition by Ross, Westerfield and Jordan, McGraw-Hill Education, New York, NY, 2019. Use of an alternative edition is allowed, but not encouraged since sets of problems, examples, and explanations may be different across the editions.

Recommended preparation

Foundational courses in microeconomics, financial accounting, and business statistics. Duplicates Credit in BUAD 215x and BUAD 308.

Course Notes

Additional course materials are accessed via Blackboard (blackboard.usc.edu).

Grading Policies

The grade is a weighted total of four non-cumulative exams:

Assignments	% of Grade
Exam 1	25%
Exam 2	25%
Exam 3	25%
Exam 4	25%
TOTAL:	100%

Your final letter grade will not be based on a mandated target, but on your relative performance. Historically, the median grade for this class is about a B+.

Grading Details and Assignments

1. Exams. All exams are closed book. We will provide a formula sheet for each exam. You may also use excel to perform calculations using a single completely empty excel spreadsheet. Use of any other resources will be considered academic integrity violation.

All exams will use the Scantron multiple choice format. Students must provide their own pens or pencils. Students must take the exam in the lecture section in which they are registered.

The first three exams are 75 minutes-timed exams held during regular class meeting times and in the regular class location. Therefore, there are no conflicts of exam times with any other course at USC. The fourth and final exam will be held during USC final exams week, scheduled by USC and listed in the syllabus below.

Exam Absence Policy: Students are required to be present for all four exams. If you are not able to take the exams on the dates and times specified in the detailed schedule, you should not take this class.

There will be no make-up exams. However, there are legitimate reasons for missing an exam. If you provide documentation of a serious medical problem for missing a midterm exam, your grade will be based on the score of the remaining three exams. Your total score will then be determined by your relative performance with respect to those who have taken the same three exams. However, if you miss more than one exam, we will be unable to assign a complete grade to you. Additionally, based on the USC policy no student can omit the Final or take it in advance.

2. Assignments. There will be assignments posted to Blackboard during the course. They will not be graded. They are designed to provide practice material during the course. Answers to the homework will be posted online for students to evaluate their performance.
3. Participation. Attendance and active class participation is mandatory. While the attendance and participation will not be tracked or graded, both are necessary for successful understanding and completion of the course.

Technology Policy

Personal computers and wireless Internet are a key part of today’s technological culture, but they also can distract you from the class discussion and dampen participation. You may bring your laptops/iPads etc. to class for note-taking, but please refrain from browsing the internet, updating your Facebook profile, playing games, instant messaging, shopping, etc. Although you may think you are being discreet, 90% of the time students engaging in such behavior give themselves away (through inappropriate facial expressions, lack of eye contact, out of sync typing, etc.). Use of computers in the classroom is a privilege. If you abuse this privilege, laptops may be banned from the classroom.

COURSE CALENDAR

Sets of recommended end-of-chapter problems will be posted on Blackboard.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Add Process

Most Marshall classes are open enrollment (R-clearance) through the Add deadline. If there is an open seat, you can add the class using Web Registration. If the class is full, you will need to continue checking Web Registration or the Schedule of Classes (classes.usc.edu) to see if a space becomes available. Students who do not attend the first two class sessions (for classes that meet twice per week) or the first class meeting (for classes that meet once per week) may be dropped from the course. There are no formal wait lists for Marshall undergraduate courses, and professors cannot add students or increase the course capacity. If all sections of the course are full, you can add your name to an interest list by contacting the Office of Undergraduate Advising & Student Affairs; if new seats or sections are added, students on the interest list will be notified.

Open Expression and Respect for All

An important goal of the educational experience at USC Marshall is to be exposed to and discuss diverse, thought-provoking, and sometimes controversial ideas that challenge one’s beliefs. In this course we will support the values articulated in the USC Marshall “Open Expression Statement.”

USC Statement on Academic Conduct and Support Systems

Academic Conduct:

Plagiarism – presenting someone else’s ideas as your own, either verbatim or recast in your own words – is a serious academic offense with serious consequences. Please familiarize yourself with the discussion of plagiarism in SCampus in Part B, Section 11, “Behavior Violating University Standards” policy.usc.edu/scampus-part-b. Other forms of academic dishonesty are equally unacceptable. See additional information in SCampus and university policies on Research and Scholarship Misconduct.

Students and Disability Accommodations:

USC welcomes students with disabilities into all of the University’s educational programs. The Office of Student Accessibility Services (OSAS) is responsible for the determination of appropriate accommodations for students who encounter disability-related barriers. Once a student has completed the OSAS process (registration, initial appointment, and submitted documentation) and accommodations are determined to be reasonable and appropriate, a Letter of Accommodation (LOA) will be available to generate for each course. The LOA must be given to each course instructor by the student and followed up with a discussion. This should be done as early in the semester as possible as accommodations are not retroactive. More information can be found at osas.usc.edu. You may contact OSAS at (213) 740-0776 or via email at osasfrontdesk@usc.edu.

Undergraduate Program Learning Goals and Objectives (last update 12/21/17)

Learning goal 1: Our graduates will demonstrate critical thinking skills so as to become future-oriented problem solvers, innovators and decision makers in diverse and rapidly changing business environments.

- Students will demonstrate the ability to anticipate, identify and solve business problems. They will be able to identify and assess central problems, identify and evaluate potential solutions, and translate a chosen solution to an implementation plan that considers future contingencies
- Students will demonstrate the ability to be accurate, clear, expansive (thorough, detailed) and fair-minded in their thinking
- Students will critically analyze concepts, theories and processes by stating them in their own words, understanding key components, identifying assumptions, indicating how they are similar to and different from others and translating them to the real world
- Students will be effective at gathering, storing, and using qualitative and quantitative data and at using analytical tools and frameworks to understand and solve business problems
- Students will understand the concepts of critical thinking, entrepreneurial thinking and creative thinking as drivers of innovative ideas

Learning Goal 2: Our graduates will develop people and leadership skills to promote their effectiveness as business managers and leaders in the 21st century's evolving work and organizational structures.

- Students will recognize, understand and analyze the roles, responsibilities and behaviors of effective managers and leaders in diverse business contexts e.g., functionally diverse, culturally diverse, geographically diverse, etc.
- Students will understand factors that contribute to effective teamwork including how to elicit, manage and leverage diverse perspectives and competencies.
- Students will recognize, understand, and analyze the motivations and behaviors of stakeholders inside and outside organizations (e.g., teams, departments, consumers, investors, auditors)

Learning Goal 3: Our graduates will be effective communicators to facilitate information flow in organizational, social, and intercultural contexts.

- Students will identify and assess diverse personal and organizational communication goals and audience information needs
- Students will demonstrate an ability to gather and disseminate information and communicate it clearly, logically, and persuasively in professional contexts
- Students will understand individual and group communications patterns and dynamics in organizations and other professional contexts

Learning goal 4: Our graduates will demonstrate ethical reasoning skills, understand social, civic, and professional responsibilities and aspire to add value to society.

- Students will recognize ethical challenges in business situations and assess appropriate courses of action
- Students will understand professional codes of conduct

Learning goal 5: Our graduates will develop a global business perspective. They will understand how local, regional, and international markets, and economic, social and cultural issues impact business decisions so as to anticipate new opportunities in any marketplace.

- Students will understand that stakeholders, stakeholder interests, business environments (legal, regulatory, competitor) and business practices vary across regions of the world
- Students will understand how local, regional and global markets interact and are impacted by economic, social and cultural factors.

Learning goal 6: Our graduates will understand types of markets and key business areas and their interaction to effectively manage different types of enterprises.

- Students will demonstrate foundational knowledge of core business disciplines, including business analytics and business economics
 - Students will understand the interrelationships between functional areas of business so as to develop a general perspective on business management
 - Students will apply theories, models, and frameworks to analyze relevant markets (e.g. product, capital, commodity, factor and labor markets)
 - Students will be able to use technologies (e.g., spreadsheets, databases, software) relevant to contemporary business practices
