Course Description
Together, we will explore the critical role that inclusive practices play in creating equitable and sustainable outcomes. We will look at how thoughtful design processes can work to define inclusive products, services, systems and policies, and why designing for diverse audiences results in more effective solutions for everyone. We will explore and define opportunities for design to facilitate and create allyship amongst audience groups, and how we can move intention to action.

Learning Objectives and Outcomes

Humans should be at the center of human-centered design

As individuals, we have a tendency to solve problems using our own abilities, cultural context, and needs as a baseline, to create from what we consider “average” or “normal.” While this may seem intuitive and a good place to initiate problem solving efforts, these tendencies can have harmful and widespread effects on the types of users, participants, and/or audience members our final design decisions include or exclude. As designers, whose needs should you be designing for, and when? As humans, we have all experienced interactions where we felt included or excluded, whether in using a product, services, or systems.

Together we will strive to include the rich tapestry of diversity of age, gender, race, language, culture, body types, physical and mental ability into our solutions, and explore when and how to create space for previously excluded participants in the design process.

In this course, we will participate in complex, rich discourse around inclusive design and the ongoing practice of design allyship. Including how to identify our own awareness and sensitivity to inclusive design practices, initiating inclusive practices in working groups while creating buy-in with stakeholders, and how to generate actionable outcomes to create design allyship.

As a class, we will co-create a toolkit to critically support human-centered design methodology, research techniques, and development of product. We will examine the myths and misconceptions around the “average user” and what is often overlooked as exceptions or edge cases.

Come with an open mind, ready to learn how to design for individuality to unlock innovation and potential.

Key learning outcomes include:

- A rich understanding of previous case studies in design history to support inclusive design and design allyship
- Gain awareness of the landscape of human variation and user diversity: from physical and mental ability, culture, gender, age, identity, and beyond
- Explore a range of inclusive design contexts including systems, products, services, experiences
- Recognize and role-play dilemmas one will likely encounter when applying inclusive design
- An understanding of how to synthesize key insights and observations into actionable design challenges and briefs for product development.
- Be able to identify and diagnose “mismatched” interactions that are symptomatic of exclusionary practices

A: (95-100%) A-: (90-94%)
EXCELLENT – Means that your work is excellent. You have a thorough understanding of the course content, theories and the ideas presented in lectures and readings. Your grades on all your assignments, attendance and participation are consistently excellent. You are engaged and actively participate in discussions and with the assignments. All of your assignments are thoroughly researched and turned in on time. You consistently demonstrate a high level of comprehension in your discussions and through your assignments.

B+: (87-89%) B: (83-86%) B-: (80-83%)
GOOD – Means that your work is good, and you demonstrate an above average understanding of the course content. Your grades on all your assignments, attendance and participation are consistently good or excellent. Ideas presented in class are understood and is reflected in your assignments. Your concepts are good, if not excellent, and you are usually able to bring them to life visually as needed.

C+: (77-79%) C: (73-76%) C-: (70-73%)
AVERAGE – Means that your work is fair (average). You understand some of the ideas, themes and concepts presented in class. Your attendance and participation are average. Your performance in critiques are average.

D+: (67-69%) D: (60-66%)

Assignment Rubrics
Assignment Rubrics vary per assignment, and will be provided as the start of each assignment. Please check with the instructor to ensure you have a clear understanding of what is expected of you for each assignment.

Assignment Submission Policy
Assignments must be submitted to the google drive, AND as a URL submission to Canvas, in advance of the class due. Assignments submitted late will be accepted but will incur the following grade penalties:
- 24 hours after deadline is a 10% deduction
- 24-48 hours after the deadline is a 20% deduction
- 48 hours to 3 days late is a 50% deduction
- Submissions more than 3 days late will receive NO CREDIT, unless approved in advance by the instructor.

Please note deliverable criteria as sighted on each assignment rubric (as shared in class and course materials), as deductions will be incurred by inaccurate submission processes.

Grading Timeline
Grades for each assignment to be shared within 2-3 weeks of submission. Grading notifications will go out via Canvas system in RESPONSE to url submissions on Canvas. Students will be notified of their standing in detail after the midterm mark of the semester, approx. week 9.

Students are welcomed, and encouraged, to check in at any time regarding their standing in the class.

Academy Attendance Policy
The Academy maintains rigorous academic standards for its students and on-time attendance at all class meetings is expected. Each student will be allowed two excused absences over the course of the semester for which no explanation is required. Students are admonished to not waste excused absences on non-critical issues, and to use them carefully for illness or other issues that may arise unexpectedly. Except in the case of prolonged illness or other serious issue (see below), no additional absences will be excused. Each unexcused absence will result in the lowering of the final grade by ⅓ of a grade (e.g., an A will be lowered to A-, and A- will be lowered to a B+, etc.). In addition, being tardy to class will count as one-third of an absence. Three tardies will equal a full course absence.

An established pattern of tardy and/or disruptive behavior may result in being asked to leave the class for that day, generating a full absence.

Attendance will be taken at the beginning of each class. It is your responsibility to ensure your attendance is recorded at the start of each class.

In the event of online classes, you are required to submit a chat text entry (or similar) to record your attendance in class.

If you are more than 15 mins late for a class–without prior permission from the instructor–it will be counted as an absence.
Students remain responsible for any missed work from excused or unexcused absences. Immediately following an absence, students should contact the instructor to obtain missed assignments or lecture notes and to confirm new deadlines or due dates. Extensions or other accommodations are at the discretion of the instructor.

Automatically excused absences normally may not be used for quiz, exam or presentation days. Using an excused absence for a quiz, exam or presentation, such as in the case of sudden illness or other emergency, is at the discretion of the instructor.

In the case of prolonged illness, family emergencies, or other unforeseen serious issues, the student should contact the instructor to arrange for accommodation. Accommodation may also be made for essential professional or career-related events or opportunities. Additionally, students who need accommodations for religious observations should provide advanced notice to instructors and student athletes should provide Travel Request Letters. All accommodations remain at the discretion of the instructor, and appropriate documentation may be required.

Fall 2022 addendum:

- Unless students provide an accommodation letter from USC’s Office of Student Accessibility Services (OSAS) or a letter from IYA Student Services detailing visa or travel restrictions, attendance and active participation is expected in the classroom. Any student with such accommodations should submit their accommodation document to the instructor as soon as possible to discuss appropriate accommodations. Either classroom recordings or live remote access to the class via Zoom will be provided.
- Students who are experiencing illness should not attend class in person. Please inform the instructor in advance of any class sessions that you can’t attend for medical reasons, and accommodations will be arranged to view recorded lectures and submit alternatives to any missed class participation. Students will not be penalized for not attending class in person under these circumstances.
- In the event that you find yourself experiencing COVID-19 related symptoms, in keeping with university recommendations, you should Stay home! This is the best way to prevent spreading COVID-19 as supported by scientific evidence; Please do not come to an in-person class if you are feeling ill, particularly if you are experiencing symptoms of COVID-19.

Iovine and Young Hall Cleanout
The Academy is unable to store student projects and materials beyond the end of the semester. Students must remove all projects and personal materials from the Creators Studio, lockers/locker room, and other classrooms by the end of each semester. All projects and materials left in Iovine and Young Hall will be discarded two days after final exams end. No exceptions.

Additional Policies
Throughout the course, we will be using a variety of tools to create practice work. Please be prepared with laptop, cellphone, and sketch pad as each of these items may be employed at any given time. It is understood that technology is key to the contemporary learning environment, but it should not hinder communication and comprehension between instructor and student, nor be a detractor to others around you.

Please stay present in class or group discussions, as this will be reflected in your participation grade.
Contact Hours

This 2-unit course requires 1500 minutes of instructional time per semester, which equals 100 minutes of instructional time each week. In addition, it is expected that students will work, on average, an additional 200 minutes per week outside of class — on readings/viewings, homework assignments, field experiences, and individual or team projects.

Statement on Academic Conduct and Support Systems

Academic Conduct:

Plagiarism – presenting someone else’s ideas as your own, either verbatim or recast in your own words – is a serious academic offense with serious consequences. Please familiarize yourself with the discussion of plagiarism in SCampus in Part B, Section 11, “Behavior Violating University Standards” policy.usc.edu/scampus-part-b. Other forms of academic dishonesty are equally unacceptable. See additional information in SCampus and university policies on Research and Scholarship Misconduct.

Students and Disability Accommodations:

USC welcomes students with disabilities into all of the University’s educational programs. The Office of Student Accessibility Services (OSAS) is responsible for the determination of appropriate accommodations for students who encounter disability-related barriers. Once a student has completed the OSAS process (registration, initial appointment, and submitted documentation) and accommodations are determined to be reasonable and appropriate, a Letter of Accommodation (LOA) will be available to generate for each course. The LOA must be given to each course instructor by the student and followed up with a discussion. This should be done as early in the semester as possible as accommodations are not retroactive. More information can be found at osas.usc.edu. You may contact OSAS at (213) 740-0776 or via email at osasfrontdesk@usc.edu.
