

COLT 471

COMPARATISM IN HISTORY AND THEORY

Professor Devin Griffiths

Tuesdays and Thursdays

2:00 - 3:20 PM

This course takes a comparative approach to study the history of comparatism in the humanities, social sciences and natural sciences. We will use secondary readings in these fields to explore a series of contemporary works of fiction, by authors C.L.R. James, George Eliot, Germaine de Stael and Abdul Rahman Munif.
