Course Description

This course is “Auditioning for the Camera” which will include scenes and scripts from film and television from the vast array of the entertainment industry: studio and independent features and network and cable television. We will cater our work to each student's individual needs, choosing material that both strengthens and stretches them. We will work on how to prepare scenes for an audition. We will discuss over preparing and under preparing, what to do in a cold audition and how to dress and present yourself. This work should complement and enhance your previous acting classes and help you move to an understanding about the nuanced shifts that actors need to make when they are auditioning for the camera. We will also discuss the difference between auditioning for the film/television script and playing the role. Your professor is a working actor who will be giving you examples of what she is teaching you in real time. We will begin with scenes from Ladybird by Greta Gerwig then will move onto other film and television scripts and culminate the semester with 3 audition pieces from both media which will be filmed for your use.

Learning Objectives

To prepare you to successfully audition for film and television projects.

Prerequisite(s): THTR 101 and THTR 252b

Required Readings and Supplementary Materials

Scripts will initially be provided electronically. You will be able to provide your own pieces should you choose to do so.

Description and Assessment of Assignments

Students will be expected to read Ladybird on their own. Scenes will then be assigned or chosen. These will be presented as audition pieces over three sessions; first read cold, then memorized and then filmed. We will discuss the difference between auditioning for theater and film/television and possible the differences between auditioning for film and television. We will be using some of the language used in your other acting classes:, making an active choice, overcoming an obstacle, following an objective. You can be working on your own outside of class but are welcome to work with partners if that is helpful. We will introduce other film scripts and television scripts and scripts of your own choice. We will culminate the semester with 2/3 filmed scenes for your use. You will be assessed by how well you prepare for class and how you have fully realized your characters in preparation for your audition.

the discussion of plagiarism in SCampus in Part B, Section 11, “Behavior Violating University Standards” policy.usc.edu/scampus-part-b. ### Equity, Diversity & Inclusion + Intimacy in Theater Consent Culture Statement:

Through our pluralistic approach of diverse pedagogies, methodologies, ideologies, and modalities of artistic expression, we invite(engage) and challenge students to expand their breadth and depth of knowledge, complexity, and range of the human experience. Even though we nurture, guide, and challenge our students to embrace the unknown or unfamiliar and step outside of their comfort zones through storytelling/art, we aim to practice effective strategies and offer tools to students mindful of their physical, psychological, social, and emotional wellbeing. In alignment with professional and industry standards, we will integrate core principles and techniques of Intimacy in Theater and Building Cultures of Affirmative Consent. This will provide agency, offer resources and support to the teachers, students, directors, and staff to establish healthy boundaries of consent when working on material that is physically, intimately, or emotionally charged content in both the classroom and production.
