Course Description

"PPD 628 Urban Planning and Social Policy (4 units) -- Urban planning and social work: theory, values, techniques of inquiry, and problem-solving methods appropriate to urban planning and social work. (Duplicates credit in former PLUS 552.)"

~ USC Course Catalogue

This course surveys the major topics, theories, and debates in modern social policy in the United States, with special attention to the ways in which planning and social policy intersect. Social policy is an interdisciplinary academic field that traces its roots to the London School of Economics circa 1950. As betrayed by the course catalogue description quoted above (which apparently hasn't changed since the course was taught in the defunct School of Planning and Urban Studies in the 1970s) social policy was originally concerned with "social work"—meaning the ways in which organizations assist individuals who cannot meet their basic needs by themselves—usually the very young, very old, very poor, or severely disabled. When focusing on public-sector responses to these populations, social policy is synonymous with government programs collectively known as "the welfare state." More recently, many scholars have aligned the field with the idea of "social justice" and the recognition that policies have different consequences for different social sectors defined by age, wealth, education, race, ethnicity, and gender. More recently still, the field has expanded to encompass a wider array of so-called "new social risks" brought about by recent trends in globalization, climate change, and the Information Age. These include social upheavals associated with immigration, chronic unemployment, and financial crises, as well as broader issues of environmental policy, health policy, education policy, child welfare policy, and the criminal justice system.

In other words, social policy deals with each of the hot-button issues that define liberal and conservative perspectives in American politics. The overarching objective of this course is to understand different approaches to social policy, and to analyze each from a variety of perspectives. We will find that each school of thought begins with different assumptions about human nature, leading logically to different prescriptions about proper roles for governments, businesses, nonprofits, families, and religion. We will also pay close attention to empirical evidence. What does the best-available research tell us about which current policies are working relatively well or relatively poorly? The more we know about the leading arguments on each side of the debate, the better we can reach our own conclusions about how to craft policies that are effective, efficient, and fair—and the more we can improve our own professional practice as public administrators, planners, or advocates.

Course Objectives

By the end of this course, you will be able to:

Knowledge Objectives:

- Discuss the history and evolution of social policy in the United States.
- Define the main concepts and terminology of social policy.
- Describe how social policy and urban planning relate to social justice and issues of equity with respect to age, wealth, education, race, ethnicity, and gender.
- Practice analyzing social policies and urban planning decisions from both liberal and conservative viewpoints using salient social science theories regarding poverty or economic mobility.
- Articulate the main criteria that scholars have used to evaluate social policy outcomes.

Practice Objectives:

- Analyze and discuss policy from multiple perspectives.
- Engage in productive dialogue and deliberation with classmates whose perspectives may be very similar, or very different, from your own.
- Improve both the mechanics of your writing and your capacity to construct evidence-based analysis that aims to illuminate or persuade.
- Employ effective writing and communication skills to reach multiple audiences.

Textbooks & Materials

Books: None

Articles: All articles are available through a Google Drive folder linked within the Blackboard course.

Instructional Materials: Supplied in Blackboard each week. Unless specified in an assignment prompt, these are optional materials to provide wider exposure to the topics of the week, and will be useful to complete each week's assignments.

Live Session Schedule

This course has seven Live Sessions conducted in Zoom according to the schedule below.

The Zoom link is provided in Blackboard.

Fall 2023: Thursdays, 6:00-7:30 p.m. Pacific:

Week 01: August 31

Week 03: September 14

Week 06: October 5

Week 08: October 19

Week 10: November 2

Week 12: November 16

Week 14: November 30

Graded Activity Categories

Group Work (36%)

Group Reading Response (27%): Students will work in groups of three to five classmates. You will collaborate with your group to come to a consensus (or identify your differing opinions) on an assigned discussion topic. You will then be the class experts on this topic, starting the full-class discussion by posting your group's response on Day 5. These questions are designed to stimulate debate and interaction, so please allow yourselves plenty of time to discuss as a group before posting your final responses.

Group Reading Responses are grouped in three sets of three, Weeks 2,3,4; Weeks 6,7,8; Weeks 10,11,12. Students will work with a different group of classmates for each three week block. Instructors will assign students to groups in Week 2, 6, and 10.

Individual contribution to group reading responses (9%): Based on the following items:

- Responding to a peer evaluation survey administered through CATME in weeks 05, 09, and 13 to provide thoughtful feedback on your teammates' contributions to group work.
- Your teammates' evaluations of your contributions to group assignments, as recorded in their responses to the CATME peer evaluation surveys. (In addition to the participation grade, students who do not contribute substantially to a group assignment will be penalized, including potentially a score of zero on the assignment.)

Individual Work (64%)

Individual Reading Response (9%):

Students will individually comment on the group reading responses posted by two other groups. Individual responses should demonstrate knowledge of the concepts pertaining to the topic, and use rational argument or evidence to support all claims. Questions seeking further elaboration from the posting group are welcome, but students should also contribute additional insight to the discussion. Initial group responses are due Day 4 of each week, and individual replies are due Day 7. Refer to the Discussion grading rubric below.

Short Essay & Discussions (12%):

Six short essay discussions (2% each) in response to readings or other multimedia exercises. Students will post their response by Day 5 of the week, and will reply to two other students by Day 7.

Neighborhood Walking Audit (13%)

In Week 10, students will conduct a neighborhood walking audit to document aspects of the built and natural environment that affect health, safety, and sustainability. Findings are to be documented in a 3-page memo (plus supporting materials and references) addressed to a local planning official.

Paper Assignments (30%):

Two long-form paper assignments, each approximately 2,500 words plus references, will count toward the course grade (15% each). To provide some flexibility in the scheduling, students may choose from the following three opportunities, or complete all three papers and retain the two highest grades:

Week 05: Paper #1 (choose one of several topics or propose your own)

Week 09: Paper #2 (choose one of several topics or propose your own)

Week 14: Paper #3 (choose one of several topics or propose your own)

Grading Rubrics

The following rubric applies to group reading responses, individual reading responses, and discussions. Up to 8 points (of 20) will be deducted for posts lacking the required number replies to classmates.

Grading Rubric for Discussions and Reading Responses (20 points)
Objective/ Criteria	Superior	Proficient	Partially Proficient	Incomplete
Relevance, Application, Originality / 6 points	Proficient and provides unique perspective (6)	Addresses the question; uses ideas from the readings; has clear focus (5)	Addresses the question but with little substance, or partial coherence (3)	Fails to address the question posed, or incoherent (0)
Insight, Observation, Analysis / 6 points	Offers significant insight with clear understanding of the question (6)	Offers some analysis or insight with clear understanding of the question (5)	Addresses concepts already highlighted; rudimentary grasp of the question (3)	Lacks clarity or shows minimal understanding of the question (0)
Details & Evidence / 4 points	Details and evidence are especially illuminating (4)	Details and evidence are pertinent to the question (3)	Details and evidence are scant or repetitious (2)	Details are absent or tangential to the question (0)
Writing Style & Mechanics / 4 points	Writing style is clear, concise, inviting, and free of errors. (4)	Some stylistic problems or mechanical errors. (3)	Multiple errors or patterns of errors. (2)	Errors are frequent and severe. (0)

General guidance on discussion and reading response assignments:

- When addressing a contested topic, one way to strengthen your response is to fairly articulate both sides of the controversy. Analytical arguments that take a side are welcome, especially if they critique the opposing perspective through theoretical or empirical arguments that reference the assigned readings, videos, lectures, or other sources.
- In addition to demonstrating your grasp of the assigned readings, consider citing other outside sources. This helps you integrate your new knowledge from PPD 628 with your prior knowledge.
- Please cite page numbers wherever feasible. If your citation is especially insightful, novel, or confusing, your instructors may wish to look it up.
- For group assignments, please list the group members who contributed.

Grading Rubric for General Writing Assignments (100 points)

Objective/ Criteria	Superior	Proficient	Partially Proficient	Incomplete
Organization / 30 points	Well-organized throughout. Contains all required components. Clear focus, fluent, cohesive, strong point of view. Descriptive and inviting title. (30)	Well organized, with a majority of the required components. May have minor lapses in focus or fluency. (26)	Missing critical components. Poor transitions, inconsistencies in coherence, or lacking a point of view or perspective on the assignment. (22)	Significant organizational or structural problems and/or is missing critical components of the assignment. Serious errors in organization. (10)
Analysis / 30 points	Identifies key issues and insights. Ideas are developed in depth. Displays a clear understanding of the assignment. Written in the student's own voice with quotes used sparingly if at all. (30)	Attempts to identify key issues and insights. Establishes a purpose, develops ideas, and displays understanding of the assignment. (26)	Modest analysis that covers the material but does not include new insights. Rudimentary development of ideas, but displays some understanding of the assignment. (22)	Little to no analysis and/or demonstration of course concepts and learning. No clear purpose. Minimal understanding of the assignment. (10)
Evidence / 30 points	Evidence and details are effective, explicit, and pertinent to the assignment. Integrates appropriate course material. (30)	Evidence and details are organized and pertinent. May lack application or integration of course materials. (26)	Evidence and details lack elaboration or are repetitious. Minimal application of course materials. (22)	Lacking specific evidence and details, or evidence is not relevant. Contains no application of course materials. (10)
Writing Style & Mechanics / 10 points	Writing clear, concise, inviting, and free of mechanical errors. (10)	Some stylistic problems or mechanical errors. (8)	Multiple errors or patterns of errors. (4)	Errors are frequent and severe. (0)

Other Policies

Weekly Structure

The course is organized into 15 week-long units. Each day of the week is numbered 1 through 7. Wednesday is always the first day of the week:

Day 1	Day 2	Day 3	Day 4	Day 5	Day 6	Day 7
Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday	Sunday	Monday	Tuesday

Assignments are due no later than 11:59 p.m. in the Pacific time zone on the day that is stated within the assignment page and the weekly activity table.

Contacting the Instructor

Email is the most reliable way to contact me. I typically respond within a few hours, and rarely more than 24. Email is also the best way to schedule a time for a phone or video call. You may call or text me if you need my immediate attention.

Form and Style for All Written Work

Write in plain, concise prose (such as described in Strunk and White's classic Elements of Style). Provide in-text author-date citations for all ideas, phrasing, or facts you borrow from other sources. Include page numbers in citations wherever feasible; if your citation is especially insightful, novel, or contentious, your instructor or classmates may wish to look it up. Provide a list of cited references in APA format. Err on the side of being too inclusive in your citations of facts and ideas included in your work. It is good professional practice to guide your readers to your source materials, and liberal citations helps avoid plagiarism issues.

If addressing a topic that is highly contested, one way to strengthen your response is to clearly and fairly articulate both sides of the controversy. Analytical arguments that come down on one side or the other are welcome, especially if they critique the opposing perspective through theoretical or empirical arguments that reference the assigned readings, videos, lectures, or other sources. In addition to demonstrating your knowledge of the assigned readings, feel free to cite sources beyond the required materials. This helps you integrate your new knowledge from this course with ideas you have gleaned from your other courses or experiences.

File Submission Protocol

All file submissions will be handled electronically through Blackboard. In the event of electronic submission problems via Blackboard, you may provide duplicate submissions via e-mail to the instructor as a record of your timely submission.

Unless otherwise noted by your instructor, all written assignments and submissions should be single-spaced and submitted as a Microsoft Word document.

Please label all submitted files with your last name followed by the name of the assignment (e.g., Lastname_Week7Paper1.doc).

Late Assignments

No assignments are accepted after their due dates without prior permission. At their discretion, faculty may grant extensions for extenuating circumstances, as defined in the USC student handbook. If you are unable to complete an assignment on time, please notify your instructor as soon as feasible. Please communicate with your instructor if you find yourself falling behind or if you need any assistance with an assignment.

Academic Integrity

The University of Southern California is foremost a learning community committed to fostering successful scholars and researchers dedicated to the pursuit of knowledge and the transmission of ideas. Academic misconduct is in contrast to the university's mission to educate students through a broad array of first-rank academic, professional, and extracurricular programs and includes any act of dishonesty in the submission of academic work (either in draft or final form).

This course will follow the expectations for academic integrity as stated in the USC Student Handbook. All students are expected to submit assignments that are original work and prepared specifically for the course/section in this academic term. You may not submit work written by others or "recycle" work prepared for other courses without obtaining written permission from the instructor(s). Students suspected of engaging in academic misconduct will be reported to the Office of Academic Integrity.

Other violations of academic misconduct include, but are not limited to, cheating, plagiarism, fabrication (e.g., falsifying data), knowingly assisting others in acts of academic dishonesty, and any act that gains or is intended to gain an unfair academic advantage.

The impact of academic dishonesty is far-reaching and is considered a serious offense against the university and could result in outcomes such as failure on the assignment, failure in the course, suspension, or even expulsion from the university.

For more information about academic integrity see the student handbook or the Office of Academic Integrity's website, and university policies on Research and Scholarship Misconduct.

Prohibition on Uploading Course Materials to Generative AI Services

Submitting assignment prompts or other course materials to an AI generator is a violation of intellectual property and is disallowed under the USC policy prohibiting distribution of course materials (Living our Unifying Values: The USC Student Handbook, p. 13).

Policy on Generative AI

The learning goals for the writing assignments in this course are (1) to prod students to expand their knowledge of course concepts through careful research and thoughtful writing, and (2) to teach students how to construct written arguments (in various formats such as essays, reports, memoranda) that are enlightening, credible, reliable, and professional.

Use of artificial intelligence (AI) tools such as Grammarly or generative AI tools such as ChatGPT is allowed in this course so long as it helps you achieve both of these learning goals, and so long as it otherwise adheres to the principles of academic integrity described elsewhere in this syllabus and in The USC Student Handbook.

In professional and academic writing, it is essential to cite sources for all evidence and ideas borrowed from others. The main purposes of proper citation are (1) to support your argument with evidence from reliable and credible sources, and (2) to give credit to other people whose intellectual product you have borrowed.

Do not cite generative AI tools in your writing because (a) such tools are not a credible and reliable source of information or analysis, and (b) these tools are not human sources that need to be credited for their “ideas” or “labor.” (Similarly, avoid citing other unreliable or non-credible sources such as Wikipedia.org or ProCon.org, to name two. By the same token, there is usually no need to use citations to give credit to non-human writing and research aids including commonplace computerized tools such as internet search engines, PC software, or AI tools).

Course Content Distribution and Synchronous Session Recordings Policies

USC has policies that prohibit recording and distribution of any synchronous and asynchronous course content outside of the learning environment.

Recording a university class without the express permission of the instructor and announcement to the class, or unless conducted pursuant to an Office of Student Accessibility Services (OSAS) accommodation. Recording can inhibit free discussion in the future, and thus infringe on the academic freedom of other students as well as the instructor. (Living our Unifying Values: The USC Student Handbook, page 13).

Distribution or use of notes, recordings, exams, or other intellectual property, based on university classes or lectures without the express permission of the instructor for purposes other than individual or group study. This includes but is not limited to providing materials for distribution by services publishing course materials. This restriction on unauthorized use also applies to all information, which had been distributed to students or in any way had been displayed for use in relationship to the class, whether obtained in class, via email, on the internet, or via any other media. (Living our Unifying Values: The USC Student Handbook, page 13).

Statement on Academic Conduct and Support Systems

Academic Integrity:

The University of Southern California is a learning community committed to developing successful scholars and researchers dedicated to the pursuit of knowledge and the dissemination of ideas. Academic misconduct, which includes any act of dishonesty in the production or submission of academic work, compromises the integrity of the person who commits the act and can impugn the perceived integrity of the entire university community. It stands in opposition to the university's mission to research, educate, and contribute productively to our community and the world.

All students are expected to submit assignments that represent their own original work, and that have been prepared specifically for the course or section for which they have been submitted. You may not submit work written by others or "recycle" work prepared for other courses without obtaining written permission from the instructor(s).

Other violations of academic integrity include, but are not limited to, cheating, plagiarism, fabrication (e.g., falsifying data), collusion, knowingly assisting others in acts of academic dishonesty, and any act that gains or is intended to gain an unfair academic advantage.

The impact of academic dishonesty is far-reaching and is considered a serious offense against the university. All incidences of academic misconduct will be reported to the Office of Academic Integrity and could result in outcomes such as failure on the assignment, failure in the course, suspension, or even expulsion from the university.

For more information about academic integrity see the student handbook or the Office of Academic Integrity's website, and university policies on Research and Scholarship Misconduct.

Please ask your instructor if you are unsure what constitutes unauthorized assistance on an exam or assignment, or what information requires citation and/or attribution.

Students and Disability Accommodations:

USC welcomes students with disabilities into all of the University's educational programs. The Office of Student Accessibility Services (OSAS) is responsible for the determination of appropriate accommodations for students who encounter disability-related barriers. Once a student has completed the OSAS process (registration, initial appointment, and submitted documentation) and accommodations are determined to be reasonable and appropriate, a Letter of Accommodation (LOA) will be available to generate for each course. The LOA must be given to each course instructor by the student and followed up with a discussion. This should be done as early in the semester as possible as accommodations are not retroactive. More information can be found at osas.usc.edu. You may contact OSAS at (213) 740-0776 or via email at osasfrontdesk@usc.edu.

Support Systems:

Counseling and Mental Health - (213) 740-9355 - 24/7 on call

Free and confidential mental health treatment for students, including short-term psychotherapy, group counseling, stress fitness workshops, and crisis intervention.

988 Suicide and Crisis Lifeline - 988 for both calls and text messages - 24/7 on call

The 988 Suicide and Crisis Lifeline (formerly known as the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline) provides free and confidential emotional support to people in suicidal crisis or emotional distress 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, across the United States. The Lifeline is comprised of a national network of over 200 local crisis centers, combining custom local care and resources with national standards and best practices. The new, shorter phone number makes it easier for people to remember and access mental health crisis services (though the previous 1 (800) 273-8255 number will continue to function indefinitely) and represents a continued commitment to those in crisis.

Relationship and Sexual Violence Prevention Services \(RSVP\) - (213) 740-9355(WELL) - 24/7 on call
