Attendance Policy

Regular and punctual attendance (in-class or online) is obligatory and will be reflected in students' participation grade. Being over 10 minutes late is considered an absence. Language learning classes are highly interactive, featuring numerous class activities and discussions. Consequently, consistent attendance and active involvement in the class discussions are vital for maximizing your learning experience. Absent students are responsible for obtaining any missed information from the instructor or peers. Students are expected to conduct themselves respectfully and professionally, refraining from disrupting lectures with noise, chatting or checking cellphones. Disrupting lectures is a breach of class rules and will lead to a reduction in the participation grade. This course is exclusively offered in-person meaning that attending on Zoom does NOT excuse any absence unless there is a medical or emergency documentation.

Policy on Usage of Electronic Devices and Food Consumption in Class

All electronic devices, including smartphones and laptops must be turned off during class unless specifically required by the instructor. You may be asked to leave the class if you are found working on your electronic devices, and a deduction of 5 points from your attendance grade will be applied for each violation of class rules. Please abstain from consuming food during class in consideration of your fellow classmates. Drinking water, however, is permitted.

Evaluation & Grading Percentage

The final grade will be calculated according to the following grading breakdown:

Item	Grade	Notes
Active Participation	10%	This grade is an average of 5 items: attendance, bonus credit, assessment of speaking, listening and reading , each with a 100 point.
		Absences may only be excused by Dean or Health Center. Unexcused absences will reduce the attendance grade by 5 points.
		Using any kind of electronics or smartphones in class, causing distraction, is considered a class rule violation and will reduce attendance grade by 5 points.
		This class is NOT hybrid , but we may go online if it is necessary (e.g., in a pandemic): in an online session, please refrain from using any other electronic devices except your laptop. Please see the netiquette rules for other specific on-line class rules. Your oral skills are assessed when you are doing speaking activities in Breakout Rooms.
Assignments/Quizzes	10%	Assignment pages are available on the Blackboard. Students are expected to allocate a minimum of 1-2 hours daily to complete their assignments. Assignments are due at the end of each textbook unit .
		Late submission of assignment will result in a 10% reduction of the assignment grade for each 24-hour delay, unless the situation is excused due to an emergency endorsed by the instructor. Please promptly contact your instructor via email to discuss alternative arrangements due to an emergency.
		Print-write-scan or type your assignment pages then save them in a single PDF file. Name the file as Unit#-Firstname.pdf and upload it to the Blackboard (under each unit Assignment tab).
Project	20%	A role-play project recorded in a video clip; due by the end of the semester. See the rubric.
Mid-Term Exam	30%	2 nd week of March.

The Path to the Minor in Iranian Studies:

This course sets you on the path toward pursuing a minor in Iranian Studies. To fulfill the requirements for the minor, students are required to complete five courses, starting with Persian-IV (IRAN 250). For minors with Iranian Studies Concentration, students must take Advanced Persian-I (IRAN 320). Advanced Persian-I, Advanced Persian-II or Business Persian (IRAN 325) may be taken as electives. For the latest minor in Iranian Studies course requirements, please refer to:

<https://dornsife.usc.edu/mdes/iranian-studies/>

Please note that Persian-III is a prerequisite course for Persian-IV and Advanced Persian courses. For those with prior study of Persian, a placement test is offered by the Language@USC to determine proficiency level. If a student's proficiency surpasses the third-semester college level, the language faculty should be consulted about a higher-level proficiency exam.

Course Content Distribution and Synchronous Session Recordings Policies

USC has policies that prohibit recording and distribution of any synchronous and asynchronous course content outside of the learning environment.

Recording a university class without the express permission of the instructor and announcement to the class, or unless conducted pursuant to an Office of Student Accessibility Services (OSAS) accommodation. Recording can inhibit free discussion in the future, and thus infringe on the academic freedom of other students as well as the instructor. (Living our Unifying Values: The USC Student Handbook, page 13).

Distribution or use of notes, recordings, exams, or other intellectual property, based on university classes or lectures without the express permission of the instructor for purposes other than individual or group study. This includes but is not limited to providing materials for distribution by services publishing course materials. This restriction on unauthorized use also applies to all information, which had been distributed to students or in any way had been displayed for use in relationship to the class, whether obtained in class, via email, on the internet, or via any other media. (Living our Unifying Values: The USC Student Handbook, page 13).

End of Semester Course Evaluations

USC will post a link to your Blackboard account for end of semester course evaluations about 10 days before the final exams. The last day of class is usually assigned to complete course evaluations. It is expected that all students actively participate in the course evaluations and write constructive comments for the improvement of the course.

Statement on Academic Conduct and Support Systems

Academic Integrity:

The University of Southern California is a learning community committed to developing successful scholars and researchers dedicated to the pursuit of knowledge and the dissemination of ideas. Academic misconduct, which includes any act of dishonesty in the production or submission of academic work, compromises the integrity of the person who commits the act and can impugn the perceived integrity of the entire university community. It stands in opposition to the university's mission to research, educate, and contribute productively to our community and the world.

All students are expected to submit assignments that represent their own original work, and that have been prepared specifically for the course or section for which they have been submitted. You may not submit work written by others or "recycle" work prepared for other courses without obtaining written permission from the instructor(s).

Other violations of academic integrity include, but are not limited to, cheating, plagiarism, fabrication (e.g., falsifying data), collusion, knowingly assisting others in acts of academic dishonesty, and any act that gains or is intended to gain an unfair academic advantage.

The impact of academic dishonesty is far-reaching and is considered a serious offense against the university. All incidences of academic misconduct will be reported to the Office of Academic Integrity and could result in outcomes such as failure on the assignment, failure in the course, suspension, or even expulsion from the university.

For more information about academic integrity see the student handbook or the Office of Academic Integrity's website, and university policies on Research and Scholarship Misconduct.

Please ask your instructor if you are unsure what constitutes unauthorized assistance on an exam or assignment, or what information requires citation and/or attribution.

Students and Disability Accommodations:

USC welcomes students with disabilities into all of the University's educational programs. The Office of Student Accessibility Services (OSAS) is responsible for the determination of appropriate accommodations for students who encounter disability-related barriers. Once a student has completed the OSAS process (registration, initial appointment, and submitted documentation) and accommodations are determined to be reasonable and appropriate, a Letter of Accommodation (LOA) will be available to generate for each course. The LOA must be given to each course instructor by the student and followed up with a discussion. This should be done as early in the semester as possible as accommodations are not retroactive. More information can be found at osas.usc.edu. You may contact OSAS at (213) 740-0776 or via email at osasfrontdesk@usc.edu.
