Course Description

The purpose of this course is to introduce the craft of on-camera acting. While SDA has a focus on stage, it is impossible to think that in today's technological world that having a skill set on camera is not increasingly helpful. We will be exploring the roles on set, the different styles of acting on camera, and the ability to access truthful emotions under imaginary circumstances. You will be performing on camera and off and expected to participate in all aspects of class. Since it is a performance based class the attendance is key. Some work will be done in class and some will be done on your own time and brought to class to show us what you have worked on.

Learning Objectives

- Finding out the roles on set. What's the process?
- How to get booked or book yourself.
- Explore type and how to create truth in the work on camera
- How to break down a script with different levels of prepared time.
- Actors will get a full assessment of their physical presence, energy, and how they carry themselves.
- Actors will understand the use of props, wardrobe, environment, etc while on-camera and how to make smart decisions regarding them.
- Actors will get a complete understanding of comedic (multi vs. single cam) and dramatic (procedural, serials, etc.) content and the inherent differences and nuances to consider. Along with other genres as well. (ex: horror, web series, kids' shows, found footage)
- Actors will understand what are the practical elements of strong self-taping and what the actor can control in creating auditions that stand out.
- We will explore sight lines, repetition, and marks.
- Actors will also be given the opportunity to ask questions to other people in the business as I will be bringing in guests to speak from time to time so they may get some other perspectives and some may get the chance to perform for some of them.
- Actors will be led in emotional availability work to really explore the range they are capable of getting to.

A Note From Adam: As a working actor and director I want to help make the process of on-camera fun and less stressful and allow actors to see all the things that we do to complicate the process. A relaxed and confident actor is the best kind of actor so I will be showing you ways to demystify the process. With all of this said, I am trying to recreate the real industry for you. So some of the classes will need to be adjusted based off of guests' schedules and sometimes the material will be sprung on you at the last second to give you a real practice of what it's like to balance life and work. Some of the classes may in the syllabus may need to be adjusted based on schedule issues.

Technological Proficiency and Hardware/Software Required

Since several assignments will include self-taping, and filming yourself or others, students will need internet access as well as access to a working digital camera. Mobile phones or tablets are desirable for easy mobility and access. Basic editing software(ie iMovie, Movie Maker, etc.), and access to basic sound and lighting equipment may also be useful, but not required.

Description and Assessment of Assignments

Participation is key. I want this to be treated like the real industry. That's all part of the training process. How you show up and who shows up is going to be a big part of this grade. It's a self discipline so it falls on your shoulders.

This score is up to the instructor decide based off of their professional experience. You will have a chance to redo or make up the assignment on your own time if you so choose.

Assignment Submission Policy

Assignments will be discussed in detail at the end of each class period. Assignments will be either emailed, uploaded, or presented in class per Adam's instruction.

Late Submission Policy

Assignments are expected to be completed by the due date & time. Grades on late assignments will be deducted. If an assignment is late it is deducted 15% for that assignment. Every week after that is late the assignment is deducted another 15% per week it's late. Some classes will have particular workshops/activities that are done only in class. It is your responsibility to communicate with the instructor or other students to see what the missed assignments were or will be and to coordinate with the instructor how or when you plan to make up the missed work.

Academic Integrity

The University of Southern California is foremost a learning community committed to fostering successful scholars and researchers dedicated to the pursuit of knowledge and the transmission of ideas. Academic misconduct is in contrast to the university's mission to educate students through a broad array of first-rank academic, professional, and extracurricular programs and includes any act of dishonesty in the submission of academic work (either in draft or final form).

This course will follow the expectations for academic integrity as stated in the USC Student Handbook. All students are expected to submit assignments that are original work and prepared specifically for the course/section in this academic term. You may not submit work written by others or "recycle" work prepared for other courses without obtaining written permission from the instructor(s). Students suspected of engaging in academic misconduct will be reported to the Office of Academic Integrity.

Other violations of academic misconduct include, but are not limited to, cheating, plagiarism, fabrication (e.g., falsifying data), knowingly assisting others in acts of academic dishonesty, and any act that gains or is intended to gain an unfair academic advantage.

The impact of academic dishonesty is far-reaching and is considered a serious offense against the university and could result in outcomes such as failure on the assignment, failure in the course, suspension, or even expulsion from the university.

For more information about academic integrity see the student handbook or the Office of Academic Integrity's website, and university policies on Research and Scholarship Misconduct.

Sharing of course materials outside of the learning environment

USC policy prohibits sharing of any synchronous and asynchronous course content outside of the learning environment.

SCampus Section 11.12(B)

Distribution or use of notes or recordings based on university classes or lectures without the express permission of the instructor for purposes other than individual or group study is a violation of the USC Student Conduct Code. This includes but is not limited to, providing materials for distribution by services publishing class notes. This restriction on unauthorized use also applies to all information, which had been distributed to students or in any way had been displayed for use in relationship to the class, whether obtained in class, via email, on the Internet or via any other media. (See Section C.1 Class Notes Policy).

Course evaluation

Course evaluation occurs at the end of the semester university-wide. It is an important review of students' experience in the class. You should expect to receive an email update once the system has launched to provide your feedback on this course. In addition, you are always welcome to connect with with me as the instructor to offer any feedback on the course. I will often give you feedback after performances in the class directly but that is not a guaranteed direct reflection of your grade.

Course Schedule: A Weekly Breakdown

A note from Adam: Questions are the best way to learn something. So please don't be afraid to ask anytime you have one. I will leave room in the course for this so please be prepared that questions may move some things around and could extend classes into the following weeks. We also have to leave room for the possibility of not getting to everyone in one class and it extends into the beginning of another class.

Statement on Academic Conduct and Support Systems

Academic Conduct:

Plagiarism – presenting someone else’s ideas as your own, either verbatim or recast in your own words – is a serious academic offense with serious consequences. Please familiarize yourself with the discussion of plagiarism in SCampus in Part B, Section 11, “Behavior Violating University Standards” policy.usc.edu/scampus-part-b. Other forms of academic dishonesty are equally unacceptable. See additional information in SCampus and university policies on scientific misconduct, <http://policy.usc.edu/scientific-misconduct>.

Statement for Students with Disabilities

Any student requesting academic accommodations based on a disability is required to register with Office of Student Accessibility Services (OSAS) each semester. A letter of verification for approved accommodations can be obtained from OSAS. Please be sure the letter is delivered to me (or to TA) as early in the semester as possible. OSAS is located in GFS 120 and is open 8:30 a.m.–5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. Website for OSAS and contact information: (213) 740-0776 (Phone), (213) 814-4618 (Vidoe Phone), (213) 740-8216 (FAX) ability@usc.edu.

Emergency Preparedness/Course Continuity in a Crisis

In case of a declared emergency if travel to campus is not feasible, USC executive leadership will announce an electronic way for instructors to teach students in their residence halls or homes using a combination of Blackboard, teleconferencing, and other technologies. See the university’s site on Campus Safety and Emergency Preparedness.

Health and Participation in Class

You are expected to complete your Trojan Check screener daily and, as your instructor, I may ask you to show your daily screening in class. Your health and safety, and the health and safety of your peers, are my top priorities. If you are experiencing any symptoms of COVID-19, or if you discover that you have been in close contact with others who have symptoms or who have tested positive, you must follow the instructions on Trojan Check. My hope is that if you are feeling ill or if you have been exposed to someone with the virus, you will stay home to protect others. I will ensure that you can continue to participate in class remotely so that your education is not disrupted.

To reduce the spread of COVID-19, USC requires that face coverings (masks) be worn indoors including in classrooms. Face coverings must cover your nose and mouth and be worn throughout the class session. A mask with a valve is not considered an adequate face covering and should not be used, as it can expel exhaled air, increasing the risk to others. Eating or drinking during class is prohibited because of the risk posed by removing your mask for these activities. Failure to comply with these requirements will result in your being asked to leave the classroom immediately. Requests for accommodations related to the face covering and eating/drinking policies should be directed to the Office for Student Accessibility Services (<https://osas.usc.edu/>).

Equity, Diversity & Inclusion + Intimacy in Theater Consent Culture Statement:

Through our pluralistic approach of diverse pedagogies, methodologies, ideologies, and modalities of artistic expression, we invite(engage) and challenge students to expand their breadth and depth of knowledge, complexity, and range of the human experience. Even though we nurture, guide, and challenge our students to embrace the unknown or unfamiliar and step outside of their comfort zones through storytelling/art, we aim to practice effective strategies and offer tools to students mindful of their physical, psychological, social, and emotional wellbeing. In alignment with professional and industry standards, we will integrate core principles and techniques of Intimacy in Theater and Building Cultures of Affirmative Consent. This will provide agency, offer resources and support to the teachers, students, directors, and staff to establish healthy boundaries of consent when working on material that is physically, intimately, or emotionally charged content in both the classroom and production.

SDA Student Support & Reporting Form:

To facilitate a supportive environment of accountability, SDA has created an internal system of reporting for students to address issues/concerns and to offer feedback or suggestions for improvement. This mechanism provides a pathway for reporting and offering feedback without fear of retaliation or judgment. Any submission filed through this form will be reviewed and processed accordingly through SDA Office of Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion.
