ALI 256- High Intermediate Oral Communication for International Teaching Assistants

Term: Fall 2024 Section: 10153D Day & Time: T/TH 12:00PM-1:50PM Location: WPH 204

Instructor: Anastassia Tzoytzoyrakos Contact Info: tzoytzoy@usc.edu Office Hours: by appointment Office: PSD 106

Course Description

This communication course is designed for International Teaching Assistants. The course is needs-based with a primary emphasis on effective communication skills relating to general teaching duties. Participants will work on honing their knowledge and use of accurate lexico-grammatical structures and further develop their discourse fluency. Class projects and assignments will assess students' ability to communicate with linguistic competence in a dynamic academic environment.

Learning Objectives

The purpose of this course is to prepare students to successfully carry out their duties as International Teaching Assistants in a rigorous and dynamic academic environment. Students will develop an awareness of potential communication breakdowns and practice strategies to effectively address them. Students will explore linguistic components including intonation, pitch patterns and tone choice aiming to strengthen their linguistic competence. The assignments and activities in this course are designed to help ITAs develop the ability to collaborate on a team, to teach effective mini-lessons and to communicate with greater linguistic accuracy and fluency as well as cultural appropriacy.

Course Notes

Upon completion of this course, students will receive a grade of Credit (CR) or No Credit (NC).

Required Readings and Supplementary Materials

Select materials will be distributed in class and available on Brightspace.

Description and Assessment of Assignments

This is me! (Diagnostic): Students will prepare a 3-min self-introduction using details, images, and interesting facts about themselves and any aspects of their background they want to share with the class. The use of photographs is highly encouraged. There will be a brief Q & A at the end of the self-introduction. The purpose for this initial assignment is to create community in the class. It will also be used as an initial diagnostic by the instructor.

True or False? (Individual Task): Students will prepare two stories (one false and one true) with embedded clues, followed by a Q & A to help determine which is true and which is false. Students will share for a total of a 5 min; see instructions and assignment requirements on Brightspace.

Team Teaching Intro (Group Project): Students will work in pairs to prepare a two-part series of a minilesson. Students will collaborate in the selection of the lesson topic, the choice of activities, and the delivery of the lesson. This intro is part 1 of 2 lesson components. For this task, pairs will introduce their plan to the class for peer feedback and teacher feedback; see instructions and assignment requirements on Brightspace.

Team Teaching Lesson (Group Project): Students will present part 2 of their collaborative work in coteaching a mini-lesson. The lesson should be no longer than 15 long followed by a team-led Q & A for an additional 5 min (20 minutes total). work in pairs to prepare a two-part series of a mini-lesson. Students will be evaluated as a team on collaboration and the overall effectiveness of the lesson. Individually, students will be evaluated on oral discourse accuracy and fluency.

Final Lesson (Individual): Students will design and present a 8-minute interactive speech which demonstrates their ability to construct and deliver a speech with fluency and linguistic accuracy, integrating effective storytelling techniques and interactive elements that build rapport with the audience. Speech will be followed by a Q & A session. The challenge is participants will create the lesson in two modalities (one with technology and one without). Presenters will be evaluated on presentation style, delivery, and oral discourse. Presentations will be recorded for self and teacher feedback. This project should demonstrate significant improvement in overall communication and presentation skills, pronunciation, and linguistic accuracy from the beginning of the semester.

General Evaluation Rubric for Assignments:

Note that each assignment may have additional self, peer, and teacher evaluation rubrics.

Participation & Class Discussions Evaluation Rubric

Students will participate in formal and informal class discussions covering selected topics. Each session will be customized to fit specific class needs and will build on what was covered in previous sessions. Similarly to how graduate students are expected to contribute to class discussions and TAs are expected to be effective and interactive speakers, you will be required to contribute to all classroom activities, including critiquing classmates' presentations on effectiveness and language use. Students learn from analyzing each other's oral performance and exchanging of ideas. Therefore, come ready to interact and engage in class discussions every session. Students will be evaluated on preparation, argumentation, fluency, and comprehensibility.

The "uSC" Program: The "uSC" (Undergraduate Student Consultant) Program offers our ITAs a great opportunity to practice English with a native speaker outside the classroom. You will be assigned a uSC with whom you will meet outside of class (two hours per week, starting week 4) for a total of 20 hours. This is a requirement and a chance for you to work on teaching skills, fluency, slang, pronunciation, conversation, or any other areas you wish to improve.

TOTAL	100	100

Grading Scale

To receive CR in the class, you need to receive a minimum grade of 75%.

Grading Timeline

All assignments must be completed ON THE DUE DATE. Due to the format of our projects, there will be no makeup midterm or final presentations.

Course Specific Policies

To foster an environment conducive to effective learning and communication, all electronic devices (smart phones, i-pads, laptops) will be used per the instructor's guidance and for class purposes only.

Attendance

More than 4 hours of absence will be reported to the ALI student advisor. More than 8 hours of absence will result in a course grade of NC (no credit). If you are late to class, that will also count towards the number of hours missed. In the event you cannot make a class, be sure to check with a classmate for the assignment missed. If you have an unavoidable conflict, please contact me via email as far in advance as possible.

Classroom Norms

As Teaching Assistants, you are expected to demonstrate a professional, positive attitude in all your interactions with your students, professors, advisors, and classmates. A positive attitude is the driving force behind learning and improvement. I expect you to improve greatly in this class and a positive attitude is all we need to get started.

Zoom etiquette

For select sessions on Zoom, I expect you to be UNMUTED and with YOUR VIDEO ON at all times. The only time you should be muted is if there is background noise.

ITA Exam

To qualify for the ITA exam at the end of the semester, students must complete all course-related assignments, attend all meetings with uSC, and not exceed the maximum number of allowable absences for the course. (Please note that absences include hours missed with uSC; make-up uSC meetings must be held prior to the ITA exam date.) Please note that students who fail to attend their scheduled ITA EXAM will be at risk of receiving a No Credit for the course.

Academic Integrity

The University of Southern California is foremost a learning community committed to fostering successful scholars and researchers dedicated to the pursuit of knowledge and the transmission of ideas. Academic misconduct is in contrast to the university's mission to educate students through a broad array of first-rank academic, professional, and extracurricular programs and includes any act of dishonesty in the submission of academic work (either in draft or final form).

This course will follow the expectations for academic integrity as stated in the USC Student Handbook. All students are expected to submit assignments that are original work and prepared specifically for the course/section in this academic term. You may not submit work written by others or "recycle" work prepared for other courses without obtaining written permission from the instructor(s). Students suspected of engaging in academic misconduct will be reported to the Office of Academic Integrity.

Syllabus for ALI 256 Tzoytzoyrakos

Other violations of academic misconduct include, but are not limited to, cheating, plagiarism, fabrication (e.g., falsifying data), knowingly assisting others in acts of academic dishonesty, and any act that gains or is intended to gain an unfair academic advantage.

The impact of academic dishonesty is far-reaching and is considered a serious offense against the university and could result in outcomes such as failure on the assignment, failure in the course, suspension, or even expulsion from the university.

For more information about academic integrity see the student handbook or the Office of Academic Integrity's website, and university policies on Research and Scholarship Misconduct.

AI Generators Class Policy

Permitted ONLY for select task preparation

Since creating, analytical, and critical thinking skills are part of the learning outcomes of this course, all assignments should be prepared by the student working individually or in groups. Students may not have another person or entity complete any substantive portion of the assignment. Developing strong competencies in these areas will prepare you for a competitive workplace. Therefore, using Al-generated tools is only allowed to help you brainstorm ideas or prepare for class discussions. However, you are to refrain from reading from any Al-generated notes during class discussions or presentations; the aim of your class participation is to use your own language for improved communication.

Use of AI to prepare for assignments: Be thoughtful about when AI is useful. Consider its appropriateness for each assignment or circumstance. The use of AI tools requires attribution. You are expected to clearly attribute any material generated by the tool used.

Lesson Planning and Delivery: Plagiarism includes the submission of lesson scripts generated by AI; you may use AI to help brainstorm ideas or prepare an outline, but the lesson design and delivery should be your own work.

Group work: Unless specifically designated as a 'group project,' all assignments are expected to be completed individually.

Course Content Distribution and Synchronous Session Recordings Policies

USC has policies that prohibit recording and distribution of any synchronous and asynchronous course content outside of the learning environment.

Recording a university class without the express permission of the instructor and announcement to the class, or unless conducted pursuant to an Office of Student Accessibility Services (OSAS) accommodation. Recording can inhibit free discussion in the future, and thus infringe on the academic freedom of other students as well as the instructor. (Living our Unifying Values: The USC Student Handbook, page 13).

Distribution or use of notes, recordings, exams, or other intellectual property, based on university classes or lectures without the express permission of the instructor for purposes other than individual or group study. This includes but is not limited to providing materials for distribution by services publishing course materials. This restriction on unauthorized use also applies to all information, which had been distributed to students or in any way had been displayed for use in relationship to the class, whether obtained in class, via email, on the internet, or via any other media. (Living our Unifying Values: The USC Student Handbook, page 13).

Academic Integrity:

The University of Southern California is a learning community committed to developing successful scholars and researchers dedicated to the pursuit of knowledge and the dissemination of ideas. Academic misconduct, which includes any act of dishonesty in the production or submission of academic work, compromises the integrity of the person who commits the act and can impugn the perceived integrity of the entire university community. It stands in opposition to the university's mission to research, educate, and contribute productively to our community and the world.

All students are expected to submit assignments that represent their own original work, and that have been prepared specifically for the course or section for which they have been submitted. You may not submit work written by others or "recycle" work prepared for other courses without obtaining written permission from the instructor(s).

Other violations of academic integrity include, but are not limited to, cheating, plagiarism, fabrication (e.g., falsifying data), collusion, knowingly assisting others in acts of academic dishonesty, and any act that gains or is intended to gain an unfair academic advantage.

The impact of academic dishonesty is far-reaching and is considered a serious offense against the university. All incidences of academic misconduct will be reported to the Office of Academic Integrity and could result in outcomes such as failure on the assignment, failure in the course, suspension, or even expulsion from the university.

For more information about academic integrity see the student handbook or the Office of Academic Integrity's website, and university policies on Research and Scholarship Misconduct.

Please ask your instructor if you are unsure what constitutes unauthorized assistance on an exam or assignment, or what information requires citation and/or attribution.

Students and Disability Accommodations:

USC welcomes students with disabilities into all of the University's educational programs. The Office of Student Accessibility Services (OSAS) is responsible for the determination of appropriate accommodations for students who encounter disability-related barriers. Once a student has completed the OSAS process (registration, initial appointment, and submitted documentation) and accommodations are determined to be reasonable and appropriate, a Letter of Accommodation (LOA) will be available to generate for each course. The LOA must be given to each course instructor by the student and followed up with a discussion. This should be done as early in the semester as possible as accommodations are not retroactive. More information can be found at osas.usc.edu. You may contact OSAS at (213) 740-0776 or via email at osasfrontdesk@usc.edu.
