

CTCS 469

ACCOLADES

Professor Serna

SCA 310

THURSDAYS

10 AM - 1:50 PM

Who decides if a film is great and what does that mean? This course examines the past and present of institutions and practices designed to establish “quality” in the world of cinema. After talking about the practice of film criticism, we will focus on four important sites where the cultural value of films is produced: the Academy Awards, film festivals, and film criticism, and online review aggregators such as Rotten Tomatoes.