Course Description

A twice-weekly workshop focusing on how Latine/x/a/o identity is shaped within dramatic literature and performance. Topics such as culture, memory, and the Latinx/@ body, including sexuality, onstage will all be incorporated into the study of Latine/x/a/o theatre and performance from the 1980s to the present. Ultimately this course asks the following questions: What makes a play a Latine/x/a/o play? What are the primary markers of the genre of Latinx/@ Theatre? How is Latinidad depicted both inside and outside that genre? The class will look at both dramatic literature and performance. Interviews with living authors of work we are reading will be part of this course.

Learning Objectives

Identify key Latine/x/a/o playwrights, their works and themes, and characteristics of Latine/x/a/o theatre and performance. Interpret key dramaturgical elements used to construct Latinidad. Analyze how race, gender, sexuality, citizenship, and generation are relevant in the dramatic depiction of Latine/x/a/o's. Be able to communicate perspectives and evaluation in a clear and organized manner in class discussions and writing.

Prerequisite(s): THTR225

Co-Requisite(s): course(s) that must be taken prior to or simultaneously.

Course Notes

This is a LETTER based course.

Description and Assessment of Assignments

This class is process oriented and it is assumed that students will have read all the plays, met all the visiting artists. Finished papers and presentations will be the result. If the Professor chooses to focus on elements within the play that might benefit the student more than a finished paper, the student will not be penalized for an unfinished presentation.

The class is split into THREE sections – conceptualization (weeks 1-7), production (weeks 8-12) presentation (weeks 13-15). The First Section will focus on numerous writing assignments and learning the dimensions of Latinx playwriting and artmaking. The Second Section will focus on reading plays and meeting artists. The Third Section will focus on subjects of works and how they create culture and community.

FOR SDA Assignments: Students will be required to complete written “homework” assignments. Students are expected to present their work in class weekly. Students will be expected to focus out of class time for the preparation of their presentations.

Students must complete a final exam and to come to the final wrap-up class during the scheduled final exam period, to pass the course. You cannot leave early. If you have a conflicting final exam, you should let me know at the beginning of the semester. Class assignments will be regarded as written exams.

Participation

Students are expected to show up on time; present assignments when they are due and actively participate with in-class dramaturgical analysis and discussion of plays & fellow collaborators work. Class time is impossible to make up - one must be there to participate. Reliability and enthusiasm count.

Assignment Submission Policy

Assignments are presented in the classroom. Therefore, it is expected that you will bring your completed assignments and share them. Assignments should be in standard, single space, 12 pt. Regular submission deadline will be Sundays at MIDNIGHT.

It is difficult to qualify an artwork, so the discipline and timing of meeting and turning in assignments is important towards your grade. Turning in assignments late, or not at all, will affect your grade.

Grading Timeline

Your grades will be reflected at Mid-Term and Final.

Academic Integrity

The University of Southern California is foremost a learning community committed to fostering successful scholars and researchers dedicated to the pursuit of knowledge and the transmission of ideas. Academic misconduct contrasts with the university's mission to educate students through a broad array of first-rank academic, professional, and extracurricular programs and includes any act of dishonesty in the submission of academic work (either in draft or final form).

This course will follow the expectations for academic integrity as stated in the USC Student Handbook. All students are expected to submit assignments that are original work and prepared specifically for the course/section in this academic term. You may not submit work written by others or "recycle" work prepared for other courses without obtaining written permission from the instructor(s). Students suspected of engaging in academic misconduct will be reported to the Office of Academic Integrity.

Other violations of academic misconduct include, but are not limited to, cheating, plagiarism, fabrication (e.g., falsifying data), knowingly assisting others in acts of academic dishonesty, and any act that gains or is intended to gain an unfair academic advantage.

Academic dishonesty has a far-reaching impact and is considered a serious offense against the university. Violations will result in a grade penalty, such as a failing grade on the assignment or in the course, and disciplinary action from the university itself, such as suspension or even expulsion.

For more information about academic integrity see the student handbook or the Office of Academic Integrity's website, and university policies on Research and Scholarship Misconduct.

Please ask your instructor if you are unsure what constitutes unauthorized assistance on an exam or assignment or what information requires citation and/or attribution.

This course aims to develop creative, analytical, and critical thinking skills. Therefore, all assignments should be prepared by the student working individually or in groups. Students may not have another person or entity complete any substantive portion of the assignment. Developing strong competencies in these areas will prepare you for a competitive workplace. Therefore, using AI-generated text, code, or other content is prohibited in this course, will be identified as plagiarism, and will be reported to the Office of Academic Integrity.

Course Content Distribution and Synchronous Session Recordings Policies

USC has policies that prohibit recording and distribution of any synchronous and asynchronous course content outside of the learning environment.

Recording a university class without the express permission of the instructor and announcement to the class, or unless conducted pursuant to an Office of Student Accessibility Services (OSAS) accommodation. Recording can inhibit free discussion in the future, and thus infringe on the academic freedom of other students as well as the instructor. (Living our Unifying Values: The USC Student Handbook, page 13).

Distribution or use of notes, recordings, exams, or other intellectual property, based on university classes or lectures without the express permission of the instructor for purposes other than individual or group study. This includes but is not limited to providing materials for distribution by services publishing course materials. This restriction on unauthorized use also applies to all information, which had been distributed to students or in any way had been displayed for use in relation to the class, whether obtained in class, via email, on the internet, or via any other media. Distributing course material without the instructor's permission will be presumed to be an intentional act to facilitate or enable academic dishonesty and is strictly prohibited. (Living our Unifying Values: The USC Student Handbook, page 13).

SDA PRODUCTIONS, ISPS, AND EXTRACURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

SDA productions, ISPs and Extracurricular Activities* will not excuse you from any class work. There will be no exceptions made for absences in class, missed or delayed assignments, homework or lack of class participation resulting from your involvement in any of the above. Your grade will reflect your work in this class, independent from work in any other class or activity.

*Activities that have been officially sanctioned by the larger university (such as marching band, song girls, or varsity sports) are exempt. You must submit official documentation to your professor regarding your participation in an event prior to your absence.

Equity, Diversity & Inclusion + Intimacy in Theatre Consent Culture Statement

Through our pluralistic approach of diverse pedagogies, methodologies, ideologies, and modalities of artistic expression, we invite(engage) and challenge students to expand their breadth and depth of knowledge, complexity, and range of the human experience. Even though we nurture, guide, and challenge our students to embrace the unknown or unfamiliar and step outside of their comfort zones through storytelling/art, we aim to practice effective strategies and offer tools to students mindful of their physical, psychological, social, and emotional wellbeing. In alignment with professional and industry standards, we will integrate core principles and techniques of Intimacy in Theater and Building Cultures of Affirmative Consent. This will provide agency, offer resources and support to the teachers, students, directors, and staff to establish healthy boundaries of consent when working on material that is physically, intimately, or emotionally charged content in both the classroom and production.

SDA Student Support & Reporting Form

To facilitate a supportive environment of accountability, SDA has created an internal system of reporting for students to address issues/concerns and to offer feedback or suggestions for improvement. This mechanism provides a pathway for reporting and offering feedback without fear of retaliation or judgment. Any submission filed through this form will be reviewed and processed accordingly through SDA Office of Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion.

Statement on University Academic and Support Systems

Students and Disability Accommodations:

USC welcomes students with disabilities into all of the University's educational programs. The Office of Student Accessibility Services (OSAS) is responsible for the determination of appropriate accommodations for students who encounter disability-related barriers. Once a student has completed the OSAS process (registration, initial appointment, and submitted documentation) and accommodations are determined to be reasonable and appropriate, a Letter of Accommodation (LOA) will be available to generate for each course. The LOA must be given to each course instructor by the student and followed up with a discussion. This should be done as early in the semester as possible as accommodations are not retroactive. More information can be found at osas.usc.edu. You may contact OSAS at (213) 740-0776 or via email at osasfrontdesk@usc.edu.
