IML 520: Non-Fiction Cinematic Practice

A graduate-level course for aspiring and intermediate filmmakers looking for a highly supportive space in which to develop their documentary skillset for use in creative and scholarly work.

This class is great for students desiring guided practice, or for those already working on a project looking for structure to keep their process on track.

All are welcome!! Students from Marshall, Roski, Dornsife, Cinema and beyond have benefited from this class!
