Text: Real Analysis: Modern Techniques and Their Applications, by Gerald B. Folland, 2nd Edition, and Class Notes

Homework: Will be assigned on Gradescope approximately every Friday (see Homework Schedule below) and due on Gradescope by the following Friday at 11:59PM.

Exams: Midterm, Friday, February 21, In Class Exam

The midterm exam is closed book with no calculators allowed.

Take Home Final Exam: the exam will be posted on Gradescope on Friday, May 2 (the last day of class), and due on Gradescope by the following Friday, May 7 at 10am (the university scheduled time for the conclusion of the MATH 525b Final Examination).

No collaboration (with classmates/anyone externally except the instructor/TA) is permitted when working on the take home final. On the other hand, you should instead not hesitate to email and/or direct Slack message the instructor/TA, and in addition the instructor/TA will also hold office hours the week of May 5.

Grading: Homework (40%), Midterm (25%), Final Exam (35%)

Each homework assignment is worth an equal amount towards its respective components of your final grade.

Course announcements, assignments and grades will be posted on Brightspace.

Course Communication: Email and/or direct Slack messages are always encouraged. You can also click here to access the course Slack channel where you may have questions answered by the instructor, teaching assistant and fellow students.

Topics Covered: The main topics are:

- Topological Vector Spaces
- Banach and Hilbert Spaces
- L^p -spaces and Radon Measures
- Fourier Analysis, Schwarz Spaces and Distributions

Policies and Statements:

Lecture Recordings: Lectures will be recorded with recordings posted in “USC Zoom” under “Course Tools” on the class Brightspace page.

Midterm absences: To protect academic integrity, all midterm exams must be taken in-person on the day the midterm is given in class. Due to the challenge of calibrating the difficulty of a midterm, there are no make-up midterms. If you anticipate missing a midterm, you must inform me with at least 24 hours notice (or in the case of an emergency, as soon as possible given the circumstances). Your other exams (including the final) will then be weighted to compensate.

Incomplete grade: If you miss the final for a documented emergency, you will receive a grade of IN. Consult the Office of Academic Records and Registrar for more information about an IN grade.

Students and disability accommodations: USC welcomes students with disabilities into all of the University's educational programs. The Office of Student Accessibility Services (OSAS) is responsible for the determination of appropriate accommodations for students who encounter disability-related barriers. Once a student has completed the OSAS process (registration, initial appointment, and submitted documentation) and accommodations are determined to be reasonable and appropriate, a Letter of Accommodation (LOA) will be available to generate for each course. The LOA must be given to each course instructor by the student and followed up with a discussion. This should be done as early in the semester as possible as accommodations are not retroactive. More information can be found at osas.usc.edu. You may contact OSAS at (213) 740-0776 or via email at osasfrontdesk@usc.edu.

Course Content Distribution and Student Recording Policies: USC has policies that prohibit recording and distribution of any synchronous and asynchronous course content outside of the learning environment.

Recording a university class without the express permission of the instructor and announcement to the class, or unless conducted pursuant to an Office of Student Accessibility Services (OSAS) accommodation. Recording can inhibit free discussion in the future, and thus infringe on the academic freedom of other students as well as the instructor. (Living our Unifying Values: The USC Student Handbook, page 13).

Distribution or use of notes, recordings, exams, or other intellectual property, based on university classes or lectures without the express permission of the instructor for purposes other than individual or group study. This includes but is not limited to providing materials for distribution by services publishing course materials. This restriction on unauthorized use also applies to all information, which had been distributed to students or in any way had been displayed for use in relation to the class, whether obtained in class, via email, on the internet, or via any other media. Distributing course material without the instructor's permission will be presumed to be an intentional act to facilitate or enable academic dishonesty and is strictly prohibited. (Living our Unifying Values: The USC Student Handbook, page 13).

Statement on Academic Integrity: The University of Southern California is a learning community committed to developing successful scholars and researchers dedicated to the pursuit of knowledge and the dissemination of ideas. Academic misconduct, which includes any act of dishonesty in the production or submission of academic work, compromises the integrity of the person who commits the act and can impugn the perceived integrity of the entire university community. It stands in opposition to the university's mission to research, educate, and contribute productively to our community and the world.

All students are expected to submit assignments that represent their own original work, and that have been prepared specifically for the course or section for which they have been submitted. You may not submit work written by others or "recycle" work prepared for other courses without obtaining written permission from the instructor(s).

Other violations of academic integrity include, but are not limited to, cheating, plagiarism, fabrication (e.g., falsifying data), collusion, knowingly assisting others in acts of academic dishonesty, and any act that gains or is intended to gain an unfair academic advantage.

The impact of academic dishonesty is far-reaching and is considered a serious offense against the university. All incidences of academic misconduct will be reported to the Office of Academic Integrity and could result in outcomes such as failure on the assignment, failure in the course, suspension, or even expulsion from the university.

For more information about academic integrity see the student handbook or the Office of Academic Integrity's website, and university policies on Research and Scholarship Misconduct.

Please ask your instructor if you are unsure what constitutes unauthorized assistance on an exam or assignment, or what information requires citation and/or attribution.

Support Resources:

Math Center:

The USC Math Center (KAP 263) is a place to go if you want help with your math classes. Please visit the Math Center website for more information.

Counseling and Mental Health:

Phone: (213) 740-9355 (available 24/7)

Website: <https://sites.usc.edu/counselingandmentalhealth/>

Free and confidential mental health treatment for students, including short-term psychotherapy, group counseling, stress fitness workshops, and crisis intervention.

988 Suicide and Crisis Lifeline:

Phone: 988 for both calls and text messages (available 24/7)

Website: <https://988lifeline.org/>

The 988 Suicide and Crisis Lifeline (formerly known as the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline) provides free and confidential emotional support to people in suicidal crisis or emotional distress 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, across the United States. The Lifeline consists of a national network of over 200 local crisis centers, combining custom local care and resources with national standards and best practices. The new, shorter phone number makes it easier for people to remember and access mental health crisis services (though the previous 1 (800) 273-8255 number will continue to function indefinitely) and represents a continued commitment to those in crisis.

Relationship and Sexual Violence Prevention Services (RSVP):

Phone: (213) 740-9355 (24/7, press “0” after hours)

Website: <https://sites.usc.edu/clientservices/>
